Papers with a Purpose

THE PAPERS which bear the "R" Shield watermark have a mission in life. Each one endeavors, in its own niche, to provide a medium most suitable and as fine as possible for the use intended.

For each department of commercial correspondence and records you will find an appropriate Rolland Paper.

Sixty years of manufacturing experience enables us to produce papers which meet with the approval of the most exacting business man.

Rolland Papers are recommended and used by all good printers, lithographers and engravers. . . .

PAPER

IS ESSENTIAL TO ESSENTIAL INDUSTRY

IF yours is an essential industry, we are probably serving you now and will continue to do so in the future. It may not be possible to buy all you want, or to get all the varieties you have in the past. Perhaps some old and famous names will disappear for the duration. But there is one thing of which you can be sure. Whether or not our watermark appears in paper of our manufacture, that paper is made just as well as can be made under the circumstances.

JULIAN CALENDAR

The Festivals of the Eastern Orthodox Church are based on the Julian Calendar. (See p. 28.)

THE CALENDAR

The Julian Calendar

The difference at the present date between what is known as the "Old Style" and the "New Style" Calendars is 13 days To understand how this difference arises it must be remembered that the Solar Year consists of 365 days, 5 hours. 48 minutes. 48 seconds. In the Calendar known as the Julian Calendar—arranged B.C. 47 by Julius Caesar, guided by his astronomer, Sosigenes—the year was taken as being 365¼ days, and in order to get rid of the odd quarter of a day, an extra or intercalary day was added once in every fourth year, and this was called Bissextile or Leap Year The Calendar so arranged is known as the "Old Style" and is now used by the Eastern Orthodox Church in Russia, Ukrainia, Syria and Palestine

Many Canadian citizens of Russian, Greek, Ukrainian or Syrian descent, thus observe their Christmas Day on Jan. 7 Gregorian.

The Gregorian Calendar

But as the Solar Year is 11 minutes, 12 seconds less than the Julian Year of 365¼ days, it followed in course of years that the Julian Calendar became inaccurate by several days, and in 1582 this difference amounted to 10 days. Pope Gregory XIII, at the suggestion of Aloysius Lilius an astronomer of Naples, determined to rectify this, and devised the Calendar now known as the Gregorian Calendar He dropped or cancelled these 10 days—October 5th being called October 15th—and made centurial years Leap years only once in 4 centuries; so that whilst 1700. 1800 and 1900 were to be ordinary years, 2000 would be Leap year. This modification brought the Gregorian year into such close exactitude with the Solar year that there is only a difference of 26 seconds, which amounts to a day in 3,323 years. This is the "New Style." It was ordered by Act of Parliament to be adopted in England in 1752—170 years after its formation. It was adopted in Soviet Russia in 1918, Rumania, and Greece in 1924 and Turkey in 1927. The rules for Easter have not however, been adopted by those oriental churches that are not subject to the Papacy.

The difference between the two "Styles" will remain 13 days until A.D. 2100.

The Jewish Calendar

The Jewish Calendar from the institution of the Mosaic Law downward was a lunar one, consisting of twelve months. The cycles of religious feasts commencing with the passover depending not only on the month but on the Moon; the 14th of the month of Abid or Nisan was coincident with the full moon and the new moons themselves were the occasions of regular festivals; the commencement of the month was generally determined by observations of the new moon, but twelve lunar months would make but 354⅓ days, the years would be short twelve days of the true year and it was necessary that an additional month Veadar, be inserted about every third year

In the modern Jewish Calendar the intercalary month is introduced seven times in every nineteen years, following the month Adar

The identification of the Jewish months with our own cannot be effected with precision on account of the variations existing between the lunar and solar month The Jewish Calendar is given on page 29.

The Mohammedan Calendar

The Mohammedan Calendar is called also the Calendar of Hegira (i.e. Migration) and is attributed to the primary migration of Mohammed, the Prophet of Islam, on September 20th, 622 A.D., from Mecca, his native city in the land of Hejaz, Arabia, to the city of Medina in the north of the same land. In Medina the Prophet and Founder of the Islamic Faith died and was buried.

The Mohammedan Calendar is observed by all the Moslems in Arabia, Yemen, Iraq, Transjordania, Persia, Afghanistan, India, Syria, Palestine, Egypt Tripoli, Tunis, Algeria, Morocco, and in Turkey both Asiatic and European.

The year 1362, according to the Hegira Calendar, begins on January 7, 1943.

Other Calendars in use

Other calendars in use at the present day, in addition to those above, include the Coptic, Hindu, Persian.

Calendar Reform

Reform of the calendar, so that it may be balanced in structure, perpetual in form and harmonious in arrangement, has long been under discussion.

In 1937, international opinion as to the desirability of calendar reform was explored by the League of Nations. Of 45 replies received, 14 governments indicated their willingness to adopt the perpetual calendar known as The World Calendar. Only 6 governments took a definite stand against such a reform.

The World Calendar comprises equal quarters in which the first month of each has 31 days and the other two 30 days each. These quarters contain exactly 91 days, 13 weeks and 3 months, with 13 Sundays and 78 weekdays, while each month has 26 weekdays. The 365th day becomes the Year-End Day, between December 30th and January 1st. In leap years a Leap-Year Day is interposed between June 30th and July 1st. Every January 1st falls on a Sunday, as does the first day of the other quarters. Thus the calendar is symmetrical and in kee ping with the solar year and the seasons.

The World Calendar is sponsored by calendar reform organizations throughout the world; in Canada by The Rational Calendar Association of Canada. No further steps are likely to be taken during the war.

Another system urged for many years but no longer receiving serious consideration, called for a calendar of 13 months of 28 days, each beginning with Sunday, with an extra day (a holiday) each year, and the Leap-Year Day, (another holiday) at the end of June. This plan was sponsored by the International Fixed Calendar Association, of London, England, and had the backing of the late George Eastman, of Rochester, N.Y.

The Week

The division of the week is found only among Aryan nations and in regions into which they have penetrated The day is, for convenience, divided into 24 equal parts and is the period of a single rotation of the earth upon its own axis

A Solar or Astronomical day commences at midnight, and is divided into two equal portions of 12 hours each—those before noon being termed (A.M.) those after noon (P.M.)

The Chinese week consists of 5 days, which are named after iron, wood, water, feathers and earth; they divide the day into 12 parts of 2 hours each.

The Anglo-Saxons named the days of the week after the following Dieties; Sunday, the Sun; Monday, the Moon Tuesday, Tuesco (God of War); Wednesday, Woden (God of Storms). Thursday, Thor (God of Thunder); Friday, Freya, (Goddess of Love) Saturday, Saturn (God of Time)

The word Week is from Wikon (German); = change, succession.

In Russia up to 1940 the six-day week prevailed in many factories etc.; that is, five days of work followed by a day of rest. The free days were usually the 6th, 12th, 18th, 24th, and 30th of the month. In some industries where there is continuous production (steel mills, chemical plants, etc.) there has been a five-day week—that is four days of work followed by a rest day. Recent reports indicate a tendency to revert to a 7-day week with 6 full working days.

EXPLANATION OF THE ARTICLES IN THE CALENDAR

(See Pages 36 to 47)

The Standard times of the RISING AND SETTING of the upper limbs of the Sun and Moon are given for Toronto, Quebec and Winnipeg. For places not differing much from them in latitude add four minutes for every degree west, and subtract four minutes for every degree east. (Midnight = 0.)

The column, SUN ON MERIDIAN, gives the time that a watch keeping local mean time should show when the shadow of a sun dial is on the noon mark in Longitude 5 h. 8m. W (77°0′).

MOON'S AGE.—This column shows the Moon's Age at mean noon in longitude 5 h. 8 m. W. (77° 0′).

The column, UPPER TRANSIT OF POLE STAR, shows for every day the mean time at which the Pole Star makes its upper transit across the meridian of longitude 5h. 8m. W. It passes the meridian on October 18th, twice.

The lower transit of the Pole Star occurs 11h. 58m. 2s. after the preceding upper transit.

SUN DIALS.—In connection with the use of Sun Dials the column, SIDEREAL TIME SUN ON MERIDIAN, gives the Sidereal Time when the Sun's centre is on the meridian of longitude 5h. 8m. W. (77°). For other meridians, interpolation of these quantities is necessary. Example, October 10th, 1943, find the Sidereal Time when the Sun's centre is on the 81st meridian. Here the difference in longitude is 4° The tabulated Sidereal Time on the 10th is 13h. 0m 52s., and on the 11th, 13h. 4m. 3 2s., giving an increase of 220 seconds which, multiplied by 4 and divided by 360 gives a correction of 2.4 secs. to be added to 13h. 0m. 52s.

MOON'S PHASES.—This Table gives times (75th meridian) when the Moon passes the geocentric longitudes of 0°, 90°, 180° and 270° east of the sun. It also gives the times of her greatest and least distance from the earth.

SOLAR, SIDEREAL AND STANDARD TIME

Apparent Time. — By apparent noon is meant the moment when the sun is on the meridian, and apparent time is measured by the distance in degrees that the sun is east or west of the meridian. Apparent time is given by the sun dial.

Mean Time. — The interval between apparent noon on two successive days is not constant, and a clock cannot be constructed to keep apparent time. For this reason mean time is used. The length of a mean day is the average of all the apparent days throughout the year. The real sun moves about the ecliptic in one year; an imaginary mean sun is considered as moving uniformly around the celestial equator in one year. The difference between the times that the real sun and the mean sun cross the meridian (i.e. between apparent noon and mean noon) is the equation of time.

Sidereal Time. — This is time as determined from the stars. It is sidereal 0 hours when the Vernal Equinox or First of Aries is on the meridian. In accurate time-keeping the moment when a star is on the meridian is observed and the corresponding mean time is then computed with the assistance of the Nautical Almanac. When a telescope is mounted equatorially the position of a body in the sky is located by means of the sidereal time.

Standard Time. —

Owing to the great breadth of the Dominion the difference in solar time in various parts of the country is adjusted by the creation of Standard Time Zones, one hour in width, fixed between arbitrary lines running north and south, 15° of longitude apart, the time observed in each zone being an exact number of hours slow from Greenwich.

Example: When it is 8 a.m. by Pacific Time it is 12 noon by Atlantic Time and 4 p.m. at Greenwich.

There are six zones divided as follows, reckoning from Greenwich:

Atlantic Standard Time 60th Meridian Time	New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and those parts of Quebec and N.W.T. east of the 68th Meridian, 4 hours slow. (Railway time changes going west at Campbellton and Saint John, N.B.)
Eastern Standard Time 75th Meridian Time	Quebec west of the 68th Meridian and Ontario as far west as the 90th Meridian; N.W.T. between the 68th and 85th Meridian, 5 hours slow. (Railway time changes going west at Fort William and Armstrong.)
Central Standard Time 90th Meridian Time	Ontario west of the 90th Meridian, Manitoba, southeasterly part of Saskatchewan and N.W.T. between the 85th and 102nd Meridian, 6 hours slow. (Railway time changes going west at Broadview, Watrous, Arcola, Neudorf, Humboldt, Kipling, and Hudson Bay Junction.)
Mountain Standard Time 105th Meridian Time	Saskatchewan except in the southeasterly part; throughout Alberta and in N.W.T. between the 102nd and 120th Meridian, 7 hours slow. (Railway time changes going west at Jasper, Crow's Nest and Field.)
Pacific Standard Time 120th Meridian Time	Throughout British Columbia and in N.W.T. west of the 120th Meridian, 8 hours slow.
Yukon Standard Time 135th Meridian Time	Throughout Yukon Territory, 9 hours slow.

Standard Times as used by the railways in traversing these Zones are in general use. Solar time around the globe varies four minutes with each degree of longitude.

DAYLIGHT SAVING OR SUMMER TIME

Daylight-Saving Time in Canada has been a matter of local regulation. Railways run on Standard Time. Many cities and towns adopt Daylight-Saving Time for the summer months, especially in the east, but probably most towns and rural communities throughout the Dominion observe normal (Standard) time.

In September 1940, a Dominion order-in-council requires municipalities in Ontario and Quebec which have been observing daylight-saving time, to continue to do so indefinitely, throughout the year, as a power-conserving measure.

On January 26th, 1942, by Order in Council P.C. 547, Daylight Saving was made obligatory on all municipalities in Canada throughout the year.

In Great Britain Summer Time was originally enacted by law in 1916. An Act of 1922 specified that the time should be advanced 1 hour at 2 a.m. G.M.T. on the morning of the day following the third Saturday in April, or if that day is Easter-day, the day following the second Saturday, and should end at 2 a.m. G.M.T. on the morning of the day next following the third Saturday in September. The Act, renewed in 1924 and 1925, was made permanent and modified by substituting the first Saturday in October for third Saturday in September. The Act applies to Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Channel Islands and the Isle of Man.

By regulations issued under the Emergency Powers (Defence) Act (1939) Summer time in Great Britain and Northern Ireland was first extended beyond its normal period, later made continuous throughout the year and finally increased an extra hour during the summer months.

In 1942 double Summer Time was in operation from April 5th to August 8th; normal Summer Time, i.e., one hour in advance of G.M.T., again continuing throughout the year.

In the United States Daylight Saving Time before the war was a matter of local legislation; but on February 9, 1942, legislation became effective placing the entire nation on Daylight Saving (War) Time for the duration of the war.

ECLIPSES DURING 1943

In the year 1943 there will be four eclipses, two of the Sun and two of the Moon.

I. A Total Eclipse of the Sun, February 4-5, 1943. The path of Total Eclipse starts in Russia, north of Vladivostok and crosses the North Pacific Ocean to Alaska and ends in the lower MacKenzie River valley. The maximum duration of Total Phase is 2 m. 38.9 s.

II. A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, February 20, 1943, the beginning visible generally in Europe, Africa, except the eastern part, the Atlantic Ocean, North America, South America and the eastern part of the Pacific Ocean; the ending visible generally in western Europe, the extreme north western part of Africa, the North Atlantic Ocean and western part of the South Atlantic Ocean, North America, South America, the eastern and central part of the Pacific Ocean and the northeastern extremity of Asia.

III. An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, August 1, 1943. The path of the Annular phase is between 60° and 160° East Longitude and 33° and 50° South Latitude.

IV. A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, August 15, 1943. The beginning visible generally in the western part of the Pacific Ocean, Antarctica, Australia, the Indian Ocean, Asia, southeastern Europe and most of Africa; the ending visible generally in Asia, Australia, Antarctica, the Indian Ocean, Europe, Africa, the eastern and southern parts of the Atlantic, and the extreme eastern part of South America.

The Earth is in Perihelion (nearest the Sun) January 2, 5 hours, and in Aphelion (farthest from the Sun) July 4, 10 hours, Universal Time or Greenwich Mean Time.

PLUTO

Pluto. This planet was discovered in 1930 at the Lowell Observatory, and very little is known about it. It is estimated to be about 4000 miles in diameter and its mean distance from the sun is about 3,666 millions of miles. At opposition its stellar magnitude is about +14 and is therefore visible in only the larger telescopes. Its period is 247.7 years and therefore its movement eastward among the stars amounts only to about 1½ degrees in a year.

GREATEST ELONGATION OF THE POLE STAR (See Pp. 52 & 53)

These Tables give the semi-diameter of the Sun, Polar Distance, Declination and greatest elongation of Polaris for latitudes 42° to 65° inclusive for every tenth day of the year 1943.

From the time of the upper transit of Polaris may be found approximately the time of its greatest Western or Eastern elongations, by adding or subtracting the Constants given in the following Table:

STAR TABLE

From the times of the upper transit of the Pole Star may be derived, with the aid of the following Table, the approximate times of the culmination, and of the rising and setting of the principal fixed stars, as seen from the parallel of 45° north latitude.

To ascertain when any star found in the following Table will be on the meridian, add the number in the left-hand column of figures to the meridian transit of the Pole Star given in the calendar, and from the result subtract the constant quantity 1h. 38m.

To find the time of rising of the star, subtract the number opposite to it in the right-hand column of figures from the time of its meridian passage. For the setting, add the same number to the time of its meridian passage. Those stars marked (....) revolve in a circle of perpetual apparition, and do not rise or set at places in and to the north of latitude 45°.

Example.— Find the time of culmination, of α Tauri (Aldebaran), January 1st, 1943.

The correction for an increase of altitude of one inch in the barometer or for a decrease of one degree in the thermometer, is to be added to the tabular refraction, but when the barometer is lower than 30 inches, or the thermometer higher than 47°, the corrections become subtractive. When great accuracy is required, 0.003 inch should be deducted from the observed height of the barometer for each degree that the thermometer near it is above 50°, and the same quantity added for an equal decrease.

THE SPEEDING EARTH

To most people the Earth is fixed and immobile. In reality it has a vast number of motions, some apparently regular and some apparently haphazard and very irregular.

One is conscious of the difference between night and day as it affects our sense of sight, but to a man standing on the Earth's surface at the equator it is difficult to believe that the rotation of the Earth is carrying him along at a speed of over 1,000 miles an hour. An aeroplane flying at this speed along the equator in a westerly direction would always have the Sun or stars in the same apparent position in the sky.

As the Earth rotates it is also travelling in its orbit about the Sun, which it completes in a year, at a still faster rate, namely, about 18 miles per second. Further, the Sun and its attending planets are all racing towards Vega, the brightest Star in the Constellation Lyrae, at the rate of 12 miles per second.

Again, the Earth is perturbed by the other planets. It has a monthly revolution about the Earth-Moon centre and due to the attractions of the Sun and Moon its axis has precessional and nutational movements.

This however is not all. Our Sun is a comparatively inconspicuous part of the galaxy to which we belong and which is estimated to be 100,000 light years in diameter. A light year is the distance light travels in a year and is about 6,000,000,000,000 miles. We are 32,000 light years distant from the centre of the galaxy, and the galaxy rotating about its centre carries the local star group, to which the Sun belongs, at a rate of about 170 miles per second at present towards the Constellation Cygnus. It is estimated it will take about 220,000,000 years for the galaxy to make one complete rotation.

A recent discovery of very great importance, was made in the Constellation Leo, namely, some very distant spiral nebulae, vast star clouds similar to our own galaxy. Their distances are over 100,000,000 light years and spectral analysis indicate a recessional speed of 107 miles per second for each million of light years distant. It is from these distant nebulae that the data is derived on the expanding universe theory of Jeans, who estimated that the universe would double its dimensions every 1,300,000,000 years.

LEGAL WEIGHTS AND MEASURES IN CANADA

In Canada the law provides, with respect to weights, that the unit shall be the standard pound (avoirdupois) of 7,000 grains, one-sixteenth part of the standard pound shall be an ounce (437½ grains), one hundred pounds a cental, and two thousand pounds a ton, and that four hundred and eighty grains shall be an ounce troy. As regards measures-That the unit or standard measure of capacity, as well for liquids as for dry measures, shall be the gallon, containing ten standard pounds of distilled water, weighed with the water and air at a temperature of sixty-two degrees Fahrenheit with the barometer at thirty inches, the quart shall be one-fourth part of a gallon, and the pint one-eight part of the gallon, and eight gallons shall be a bushel. The 1/160th part of the gallon by volume shall be the fluid ounce.

This gallon, commonly known as the "Imperial gallon," contains 277.41 cubic inches.

The standard measure of length is the yard, one-third part of which it is provided shall be a foot, and the twelfth part of such foot shall be an inch.

IMPERIAL MEASURE

Special note should be made of the fact that certain standards of weights and measures used in some of the states of the United States are not legal, though frequently used, in Canada. These standards are not so large, being about 16.6 per cent. smaller in capacity than the legal standards in Canada, i.e., the Imperial pint, quart and gallon. Imperial measure is 20% larger than U.S. measure.

To convert a given number of U.S. gallons into Imperial gallons, subtract 1/6th or divide by 1.2. To convert a given number of Imperial gallons into U.S. gallons, add 1/5th or multiply by 1.2.

United States measure is the old Winchester Bushel and Gallon or Wine Measure of Queen Anne. The United States gallon contains 231 cubic inches.

THE FRUIT, VEGETABLES AND HONEY ACT AND REGULATIONS

Chapter 62 of the Statutes, 1935

The provisions of this Act are intended to promote orderly marketing throughout the fruit, vegetable and honey industries and to assist in the settlement of disputes. The Act is applicable to interprovincial or foreign trade only. Revised Regulations under this Act were made and established by the Minister of Agriculture on September 23, 1942.

There follows a brief summary of the provisions of the Act and Regulations:

1. Establishment of grades or standards for honey, fruits and vegetables.
2. Prescribes conditions relative to inspection, grading, marking of packages, shipment, advertisement and sale of fruit, vegetables and honey produced within or without Canada.
3. Establishment of standard packages for various kinds of fruits, vegetables and honey.
4. Provides for the detention of fruit, vegetables, honey or packages in respect of which an offence under the Act or Regulations has been committed.
5. Prescribes penalties for contravention of any provisions of the Act or Regulations.
6. Licensing of brokers, commission agents and dealers, handling fruits and vegetables.
7. Registration of packers and persons assembling honey.
8. Prescribes fees for inspection, registration and licensing.

Note: A free copy of this Act may be obtained from the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Marketing Service, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

EGGS

The regulations respecting the grading and marking of eggs, put into effect by the Dominion Government, being in use throughout Canada, are of general interest to consumers.

The Dominion Government standard grades for eggs are as follows:— A1, A, B, C, — a candling definition being specified for each grade.

Grade A.—The highest commercial grade; fresh quality eggs, clean and sound in shell; packed in three weights as follows:—

Grade A Large—Eggs weighing individually at the rate of 24 oz. or more per dozen.

Grade A Medium—Eggs weighing individually at the rate of 22 to 24 oz. per dozen.

Grade A Pullet—Eggs weighing individually at the rate of 18 to 22 oz. per dozen.

Grade B.—The second grade, medium quality eggs, reasonably clean and sound in shell, weighing individually at the rate of 22 oz. or more per dozen.

Grade B Large.—Shall weigh individually at the rate of 24 oz. or more per dozen.

Grade B Pullet.—Shall weigh individually at the rate of not less than 20 oz. and up to but not exceeding 22 oz. per dozen; and for export, 39 lbs. net per 30 dozen.

Grade C.—The lowest grade, comprising all eggs, including cracks or dirty or stained eggs not permitted to be graded under Grades A and B, but which are still not of a condition unfit for human consumption.

Grade A1.—A super grade, available only on some markets. This grade is marketed only from farms holding a permit which is based on the suitability of production conditions; packed in three weights, Large, Medium and Pullet, the weights of which are the same as for Grade A except in the instance of Grade A1 Pullet, the minimum weight for which is 20 ounces.

Fresh—The word "fresh" shall be used only in conjunction with Grades A or A1.

Storage Eggs.—Cold stored eggs may be sold only in the appropriate grades B or C.

The mean solar year is equal to 365 days, 5 hrs 48 min. 46 sec., or nearly 365¼ days.

Every year whose number is divisible by 4 is a leap year, unless the number of the year ends in two ciphers, in which case the number must be divisible by 400. Thus, 2000 and 2400 will be leap years, but 1900 was not a leap year.

Solar time around the Globe varies 4 minutes with each degree of longitude.

Measurement of Ship Tonnage

Followed by the British Board of Trade; applying to all ships in the British Merchant Service, including Canadian registered vessels. The U. S. merchant service use a different method.

Gross Tonnage is the unit of volume containing 100 cubic feet in the internal volume of a vessel under the tonnage deck to which is added:—

(1) the 'tween deck space, if any, above the tonnage deck.

(2) the volume of permanently closed-in spaces above the upper deck available for cargo, stores, or for passengers and crew and

(3) any excess of hatchways.

Net or Register Tonnage. The Net or Register Tonnage is the Gross Tonnage as found above less deductions for crew space, stores, navigation spaces, allowance for propelling power and other deductions allowable under the Merchant Shipping Act.

Deadweight Tonnage is the amount of cargo, bunkers, reserve feed water, domestic and sanitary water, provisions, consumable stores, officers and effects on board, and is expressed in tons of 2240 lbs each; or alternatively it is the difference in the displacement at a given draft and the displacement of the vessel "lightship" with water in boilers to working level and ready for steam but with none of the above mentioned items on board.

Displacement is the amount of water displaced by a vessel floating in equilibrium in still water. The weight of water displaced is equal to the total weight of the vessel with everything on board and known as a displacement tonnage. If expressed in cubic feet it is known as the volume of displacement.

RULE

Divide the cost (invoice price with freight added) by the figure in the column of "net rate per cent profit desired" on the line with per cent it cost you to do business.

EXAMPLE:

If a wagon costs..... $60.00
Freight..... 1.20

$61.26

You desire to make a net profit of..... 5%
It costs you to do business..... 19%
Take the figure in column 5 on line with 19 which is 76

76/61.2000/$80.50 = the selling price

The percentage of cost of doing business and profit are figured on selling price.

BANKS IN CANADA AND THEIR BRANCHES

BANK OF CANADA

Following one of the recommendations contained in the report made to the Government in 1933 by the Royal Commission on Banking and Currency, headed by the Right Hon. Lord Macmillan, P.C., K.C., there was enacted by Parliament in the 1934 session, Chapter 43 of the Statutes of that year, incorporating the Bank of Canada as a central bank of issue and rediscount. The institution opened for business on March 11, 1935.

The Bank's functions are largely, though not entirely, regulative. It has, except as provided in the Bank Act, the sole right of note issue and is required to maintain a reserve in gold coin and bullion of 25 per cent of the amount of its outstanding notes and deposit liabilities with, however, the proviso that such reserve requirements may be suspended by the Governor in Council upon request of the Board of Directors of the Bank for certain periods not exceeding in all one year without the sanction of Parliament. Under the authority of the War Measures Act the gold reserve requirement was suspended by the Governor-in-Council effective May 1, 1940. The Bank is the custodian of the gold reserves formerly held by the Treasury Department of the Government and subject to the provisions of the Bank Act, all gold coin or bullion formerly owned by the chartered banks in Canada. As a measure for the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada, the Bank in accordance with The Exchange Fund Order of 1940 and subject to the provisions of The Exchange Fund Act and of the Foreign Exchange Control Board sold to the Foreign Exchange Control Board all gold held in unrestricted ownership as at May 1st, 1940. The Bank acts as the fiscal agent of the Government of Canada and, by agreement, may also act as banker or fiscal agent of the government of any province.

The management consists of a Board of Directors composed of a Governor, a Deputy Governor and 11 Directors, the Deputy Minister of Finance by virtue of his office being a member of the Board.

In 1938 an amending Act was passed providing that all Directors be appointed by the Government and that the entire capital of $5,000,000 shall be owned by the Dominion of Canada.

Directors, officers and employees of chartered banks and persons employed in the public service may not hold office as a Director.

CENTRAL MORTGAGE BANK

Bank of Canada Bldg., Ottawa, Ont.

General Superintendent, D. B. Mansur.

This Bank was created in 1939 by the Dominion Parliament, the Act being proclaimed on July 14, 1939. In November, 1939, the Minister of Finance announced that due to changed conditions caused by the war, the commencement of active operations would be deferred.

CHARTERED BANKS

Chartered Banks in Canada are incorporated by Special Act of the Dominion Parliament and governed by the Bank Act (Chapter 24 of the Statutes of 1934), which continues in force the charters of such banks until July 1, 1944. The Act specifies clearly the transactions in which banks may or may not legally engage, and embodies regulations designed to ensure the proper conduct of the banks' affairs. They are prohibited from engaging in any trade or business, from loaning money on the security of or dealing in the shares of any bank and from loaning more than $10,000.00 to any of their officers or clerks. They are also prohibited from lending upon the security of immovable property, although such may be taken as additional collateral for debts already contracted to a bank in the ordinary course of its business.

The banks are empowered to issue notes but the amount in circulation at any time shall not exceed the amount of the unimpaired paid-up capital of the bank less reductions of five per cent. in each year for a period of five years commencing January 1st, 1936, and further reductions of ten per cent. in each year for a period of five years commencing January 1st, 1941. Thereafter until Parliament further enacts, the amount of notes of a bank in circulation shall not exceed twenty-five per cent. of the amount of the unimpaired paid-up capital: Provided, however, that the foregoing reductions shall not affect notes in circulation in British colonies or possessions if the total amount of notes in circulation in Canada and elsewhere does not exceed the amount of the unimpaired paid-up capital of the bank. The provision for progressive reduction in authorized note circulation has a relation to the liability of shareholders as hereinafter explained.

In the event of a bank suspending payment, the payment of notes in circulation is a first charge upon the assets of the bank. Notes are further secured by a Circulation Fund held by the Dominion Government. Each bank contributes to this fund an amount equal to 5% of its average circulation. If this fund were not sufficient, then each bank must make up the deficiency in proportion to its circulation. If the Directors of the Bank, Liquidator, etc., fail to make arrangements within two months from the day of suspension for the payment of all its notes and interest thereon, the Minister may make arrangements for the payment out of the Circulation Fund together with interest at 5% per annum from the day of the suspension to the day named for redemption.

While deposits are not a first charge on the assets of an insolvent bank (the claims of noteholders, the Dominion Government and the Provincial Governments having priority in the order named), depositors have a certain measure of protection in the extra-liability of shareholders. Prior to January 1st, 1936, in the event of the property and assets of any bank being insufficient to pay its debts and liabilities, each shareholder was liable for the deficiency to an amount equal to the par value of the shares held by him in addition to any amount not paid up on such shares. It is now provided that this liability of a shareholder, apart from any amount not paid up on his shares, shall not exceed that proportion of the par value of his shares which the amount of notes which the bank is authorized to have in circulation in Canada bears to the paid-up capital of the bank. Shareholders who sell their stock are not relieved of the extra-liability until the expiration of sixty days.

GOVERNMENT OF ALBERTA TREASURY BRANCHES

Treasury Branches were established in 1938 by the Government of the Province of Alberta to provide facilities for depositing money, withdrawing deposits and transferring claims on goods and services to or from other depositors.

One of the main purposes of the Treasury Branch system is "to enable those using the facilities to carry out their exchanges of goods and services by means of a system of accounting without the necessity of using money."

For further information regarding this system and the addresses of the Treasury Branches, of which, in September 1942, there are 32, write to A. K. Olive, Superintendent of Treasury Branches, Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alta.

There are Treasury Branches in the following places:—

LIQUOR CONTROL IN CANADA

We give below a brief summary of the methods of controlling the sale of intoxicating liquors in the various Provinces.

The names and personnel of the various Liquor Control Boards are given under each Province. See index "Liquor Control."

ALBERTA

Spirits, wines and beers are sold in Government stores to permit holders.

Beer in unopened bottles may be sold by licensed hotels to persons over twenty-one years of age, and who are not disqualified under the Act.

Beer by the glass or open bottle may be sold by Licensed Hotels and Clubs for consumption on the premises.

General liquor permits are sold both to citizens and visitors at a cost of 50c., permits being good until the 31st of December in the year of issue.

Licensees may only purchase beer from Government Warehouses and Liquor Stores.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The sale of liquor in sealed packages is made to permit holders at Government Liquor Stores.

Beer Licences are issued to permit the sale of beer by the glass in licensed premises and by the unopened bottle for consumption elsewhere. The sale of beer by the glass to bona fide members is permitted in Veterans' Clubs which are licensed for that purpose.

Club Licences are issued in respect of premises kept and operated as a club entitling each member of the club to keep on the premises a reasonable quantity of liquor for personal consumption on the premises.

MANITOBA

Intoxicating liquor is sold in Government stores.

Persons resident in the Province or visitors being over the age of twenty-one years, and not otherwise prohibited, may purchase for the sum of $1.00 (reduced to 50c. on Nov. 1st each year) an annual liquor permit which entitles them to purchase liquor in sealed packages at the Government stores in such quantity as is set forth in the "Government Liquor Control Act, 1928." Monthly Permits also obtainable at 25c. each.

The beer parlour licenses for the sale of beer only are issued to approved hotels throughout the Province.

Beers are also sold cash and carry from the breweries.

NEW BRUNSWICK

Intoxicating liquor is sold only in sealed packages and only at the Government stores. No permit is required. No club or banquet permits are issued.

NOVA SCOTIA

Liquor can only be sold in sealed packages through the Government stores. A permit is required for spirits, but not for wine or beer.

ONTARIO

Spirituous liquor in Ontario is sold in Government owned Stores by the bottle. Those desiring to purchase same must secure Government Liquor Permits. Beer is procurable without permits from Government owned Stores, Brewers' Retail Stores, Breweries and in licensed premises, i.e., Standard Hotels, Clubs. Steamboats and on Railway trains.

Wine may be purchased without permits from Government owned Stores, Wineries, and Winery Sales Offices and with meals in licensed premises, i.e., Standard Hotels, Clubs, Steamboats and on Railway trains.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

This is the only Province under a prohibitory law. Intoxicating liquors in sealed packages may be obtained from retail vendors under the Prohibition Act on physicians' prescriptions setting out that such is for "medical purposes and not as a beverage."

The Prohibition Act is administered by the Attorney General, Address: Wholesale Vendor's Branch, P.E.I., Charlottetown.

QUEBEC

Spirits and wines are sold in Quebec Liquor Commission's stores, hotels, cafés and clubs. Beer may be sold to the public by taverns and grocery stores, and beer and wine by hotels, cafés, clubs, inns and restaurants, under licenses for each of the foregoing classes.

Municipalities may declare by by-law that no alcoholic liquor of any description may be sold within their territory.

SASKATCHEWAN

The sale of spirituous liquor and wine is restricted to the Liquor Board's stores Purchases may be made without any permit, the maximum quantity which may be so purchased by any person in one day being one quart of spirituous liquor, and one gallon of wine.

Sales of Beer are made through Liquor Board's Stores and in Licensed Premises. Licensees holding a license to sell beer by the glass may also be granted a license to sell beer in packages to be consumed off the premises.

The maximum quantity of beer, purchased at the Board's stores or at Licensed Permises for consumption elsewhere than on those premises, that may be purchased in one day without a permit is two gallons.

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES

The Northwest Territories Act, Chapter 142, R.S., 1927, prohibits the manufacture of any intoxicating liquor or intoxicant in the territories except by special permission of the Governor in Council.

The Governor in Council, as authorized by Section 10 of the Northwest Territories Act has designated the control, regulation and sale of intoxicants in the Northwest Territories as a subject in respect of which the Commissioner in Council, subject to the provisions of the Northwest Territories Act and of any other Act of the Parliament of Canada applying to the Territories may make such Ordinance or Ordinances as conditions or circumstances may to the Commissioner in Council appear to warrant.

By virtue of this authority a Territorial Liquor Ordinance has been passed and a liquor store established at Yellowknife, N.W.T.

Authority to manufacture intoxicants has only been granted in isolated instances, the product manufactured being wine for sacramental purposes

YUKON TERRITORY

The Yukon Act, Chapter 215, R.S., 1927, authorizes the Commissioner in Council of the Yukon Territory to make Ordinances for the control and regulation of the sale of and traffic in intoxicating liquor and also to make Ordinances regarding saloon and tavern licenses.

By virtue of this authority liquor stores have been opened at Dawson, Mayo, and Whitehorse

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ELECTORS IN DOMINION AND PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

ELECTIONS FOR THE DOMINION HOUSE OF COMMONS

According to The Dominion Elections Act, 1938, and subject to certain exceptions, the general rule as to the qualifications of electors at a Dominion election is that every person in Canada, man or woman, is qualified to vote and entitled to be registered as an elector on the list of electors for the polling division in which such person ordinarily resides at the time of the preparation of the list of electors, if such person (a) is of the full age of 21 years, or will attain the full age of 21 years on or before polling day at the appropriate pending election; (b) is a British subject by birth or naturalization; (c) has been ordinarily resident in Canada for the twelve months preceding polling day at the appropriate pending election, and (d) was ordinarily resident in the electoral district at the date of the issue of the writ for the appropriate pending election, and at a by-election, has continued to be ordinarily resident therein until polling day. Among persons disqualified are Indians living on a reservation, Esquimaux, prisoners, persons under restraint owing to mental disease, Japanese, Hindus and Chinese in British Columbia, Doukhobors in British Columbia and inmates in poor-houses who are disqualified from voting at provincial elections.

The list of electors is prepared, according to The Dominion Elections Act, 1938, under the general direction of the Chief Electoral Officer, and supervision of a returning officer who is appointed for each electoral district. There are two classes of polling divisions which are called Urban and Rural. Generally speaking urban polling divisions are those comprised in cities and towns of over 3,500 population, the other polling divisions are rural. In urban polling divisions, a pair of enumerators is appointed for each polling division. They make a house-to-house visitation immediately after the issue of the writ for the appropriate pending election, to secure the necessary information to complete a list of electors for their polling division. In rural polling divisions, the list is similarly prepared by rural enumerators. Writs for a Dominion election are issued about two months before the date fixed for polling day.

Chief Electoral Officer, Jules Castonguay, Ottawa.
Assistant Chief Electoral Officer, Donald Stewart, Ottawa.

TRUST COMPANIES AND LOAN COMPANIES IN CANADA

Trust Companies act as Executors, Trustees and Administrators under wills, or by appointment, as Trustees under marriage or other settlements, as Agent or Attorney in the management of estates of the living, as Guardian of minors or incapable persons, as Fiscal Agent for municipalities and companies, and, where so appointed, as Authorized Trustees in Bankruptcy. Some Trust Companies receive deposits and funds for guaranteed investments, and the loaning of such trust funds is restricted by law to securities authorized by the Trustee Act. The loaning of Company Funds is not so restricted.

The principal function of Loan Companies is the loaning of funds on first mortgage security, the money thus made available for development purposes being obtained mainly by the sale of debentures to the investing public and by Savings Department deposits.

LIST OF RAILROADS IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA

WITH THEIR TERMINAL POINTS

Numbered to correspond with numbers used in Third and Sixth columns of list commencing on page 114.

NOTE—The number to the left of the decimal point indicates the Railway system, and the numbers to the right of the decimal point the branch. Thus 535 is the Canadian Pacific Railway system, and 535·37 is the Guelph and Goderich Branch of the C. P. R. Where further reference is given, as: "Wiarton 529", turn to Wiarton where 529·190 is the reference given, which is explained in the list of railroads starting on page 110 as being on the Wiarton Branch of the C.N.R. from Park Head to Wiarton. For Express Companies see pages 104 to 106. For Air Lines see page 107. See also list of old and new names of Railways, page 106.

POST OFFICES AND RAILROAD STATIONS
IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA

*The Offices printed in Italics are authorized to issue and pay Money Orders and Postal Notes, and to dispatch and Collect C.O.D. parcels. The Offices marked * are Savings Bank Offices. † Places marked thus are not Post Offices. Capital letters on right of the Electoral District column indicate the several Provinces of the Dominion, thus:—O, Ontario; Q, Quebec; NS, Nova Scotia; N B, New Brunswick; P E I, Prince Edward Island; M, Manitoba; B C, British Columbia; A, Alberta; S, Saskatchewan.*

The population of cities, towns, and organized villages is shown to the right of places, according to the Census of 1941.

For Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, the final figures are given. For the other provinces the figures are "preliminary", the "final" count not being available at time of going to press. For most areas the increases shown in the final population figures as compared with those in the preliminary announcements are due to the addition of men in the Armed Services not enumerated at their permanent homes on June 2, 1941.

Where a street address occurs in the centre column it indicates that the place name is the name of a sub-post office of a larger place, the street-address being that of the post office.

The numbers and names placed opposite every place indicate the Railroad, Steamship or Air line on which the place or nearest railway station is situated. See list of Railroads, Steamboats and Air Lines on pages 107 to 113. For Express Companies, see pages 104 to 106.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES

The Annuities Act was passed in order to authorize the issue of Government Annuities for old age. Any resident of Canada may purchase a Canadian Government Annuity, employers of labour may contract for Annuities for their employees, and societies incorporated for fraternal or other purposes may contract for Annuities for their members. A Canadian Government Annuity is payable for life, not transferable, cannot be alienated, forfeited or stolen, and cannot be seized or levied upon by process of law. Annuities may be purchased for any sum from $10 to $1200. As an example, at the date this is printed, 1942, a man aged 20 may secure an annuity at 60 of $500 a year for the rest of his life by the payment of $5.05 per month; while an immediate annuity of $500 a year, for life or 10 years certain, purchased in one amount by a man aged 60, would cost $6,285.

For full particulars apply to E. G. Blackadar, Superintendent, Canadian Government Annuities, Department of Labour, Ottawa.

ALIENS

The subject of aliens is under the sole control of the Dominion Government and Parliament. An alien may hold both real and personal property equally with British subjects. In order to vote at elections he must be naturalized. An alien may be deported at any time for certain offences.

The wife of a British subject is a British subject, and the wife of an alien is an alien, subject to the following provisions:

When a woman who is a British subject marries an alien, she does not, by reason only of her marriage, cease to be a British subject unless by reason of her marriage she acquires the nationality of her husband.

When a married man ceases to be a British subject, his wife does not cease to be a British subject unless by reason of his acquiring a new nationality she also acquires it. When, notwithstanding the above, she would cease to be a British subject, she may nevertheless make a declaration that she desires to retain British nationality, and thereupon she remains a British subject.

When a certificate of Naturalization is granted to an alien, his wife, if not already a British subject, is not deemed to be a British subject unless, within six months after the date of the certificate, she makes a declaration that she desires to acquire British nationality. Upon the making of such declaration she is deemed to be a British subject.

When an alien is a subject of a State at war with His Majesty, his wife may, if she was a British subject at birth, make a declaration that she desires to resume British nationality, and she may then obtain a certificate of naturalization.

See NATURALIZATION.

BANKRUPTCY AND INSOLVENCY

The Bankruptcy Act enables an insolvent debtor to petition the court to be declared bankrupt. By an order of the court, possession is taken of the debtor's property, and it is distributed proportionately amongst his creditors. The court has power to subsequently discharge the bankrupt from all debts existing at the time bankruptcy proceedings began. Bankruptcy law has two purposes; (a) the expeditious and economical distribution of the debtor's assets, and (b), a release of the debtor from his creditors when he has not been guilty of any misconduct or fraud, and has surrendered all his assets.

An insolvent debtor whose liabilities to creditors exceed $500 may, prior to a receiving order being made against him, make an assignment of all his property for the general benefit of his creditors. Such an assignment must be accepted by the Official Receiver, and is called an "authorized assignment". Any other assignment is void.

By a Dominion Act of 1933, called The Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act, it is provided that where a compromise, or arrangement, is proposed between the debtor company and its creditors, secured or unsecured, the court may, on the application of the company, or a creditor, or trustee in bankruptcy, or liquidator of the company, call meetings of the creditors and shareholders. If at least three-fourths in value of the creditors present at the meeting agree to a compromise or arrangement, and it is sanctioned by the court, it is binding on all creditors, and on the company, even when it has made an authorized assignment, or against which a receiving order has been made, or the company is being wound up. The Act extends, but does not limit, provisions of any instrument governing the rights of creditors, and has force notwithstanding anything in such instrument. The court may restrain proceedings under the Bankruptcy Act, or Winding-up Act. Every order made under the Act by a court of any Province may be enforced in all other Provinces. Any order made under the Act may be appealed from.

See MARRIED WOMEN.

BILLS, NOTES AND CHEQUES

These are governed by Dominion law.

A bill requiring presentment for acceptance must be presented to the drawee, or to some person authorized to accept or refuse acceptance on his behalf, at a reasonable hour on a business day and before the bill is overdue.

Where the bill is addressed to two or more drawees who are not partners, presentment must be made to all, unless one is authorized to accept for all, when presentment may be made to him only.

Where the drawee is dead, presentment may be made to his personal representative.

Where authorized by agreement or usage, presentment through the post office is sufficient.

Presentment is excused and a bill may be treated as dishonoured by non-acceptance:

(a) Where the drawee is dead;

(b) Where the drawee is a fictitious person;

(c) Where the drawee is a person not having a capacity to contract by bill;

(d) Where, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, presentment cannot be effected;

(e) Where, although the presentment has been irregular, acceptance has been refused on some other ground.

1. Where the holder of a bill or note presents it for payment he must exhibit it to the person from whom he demands payment.

2. If a place of payment is specified, the bill must be presented at such place.

3. Where a note is, in the body of it, made payable at a particular place, presentment at that place is necessary in order to render an endorser liable.

If the place specified for payment is a city, town or village, and no place therein is specified, the bill or note may be presented at the drawee's, acceptor's or promissor's known place of business or known ordinary residence therein. If there is no such place of business or residence, it may be presented at the principal post office in such city, town or village.

4. Where no place of payment is specified in a bill:

(a) If the address of the drawee or acceptor is given, the bill must be presented there.

(b) If no address is given, the bill must be presented at the drawee's or acceptor's place of business, if known, and if not, at his ordinary residence, if known.

In any other case the bill may be presented to the drawee or acceptor wherever he can be found, or at his last known place of business or residence

Presentment for payment of a bill or cheque is dispensed with:

(a) Where presentment cannot be effected;
(b) Where the drawee is a fictitious person;
(c) By waiver of presentment.

Notice of dishonour must be given to any party entitled to notice, at his usual address, or at the place at which the bill or note is dated. Bills and notes bear interest from the date of maturity, and at the legal rate of 5% ,unless the time and rate are otherwise stated on their face. On a bill payable on a certain date or after sight 3 days of grace for payment are allowed, but none on a bill or note payable on demand. When bills and notes fall due on a legal holiday they are payable the day following.

BILLS OF SALE

A bill of sale is a document by which the owner of goods and chattels transfers them to another. This is only required where possession is not intended to be given. A bill of sale must be registered within the time fixed by the law of the Province in which the goods are, otherwise the sale will be void as against creditors of the owner.

Information as to where a bill of sale must be registered, is given under each Province; see Index.

BUILDING RESTRICTIONS

Land is frequently subject to certain restrictions; e.g., as to the class of buildings which may be erected on it; the minimum cost of such buildings; the distance of the nearest building from the street line or from other buildings; the use to which such buildings may be put, as, for example, restricting it to private residences, physicians offices, etc., and prohibiting shops, apartment houses, schools, etc. These restrictions when once inserted in a registered instrument, must be observed by all subsequent purchasers of the land, and can only be removed or disregarded with the consent of all other interested owners, or by an application to the Court to remove or modify them. This is usually possible when the complexion of the district has changed since the restrictions were put on, or when the majority of owners of the land subject to the restrictions agree to the change.

BULK SALES

The purchase, sale and transfer of stocks of goods in bulk are regulated by statute in all Provinces. In Quebec they are governed by the Civil Code. A sale in bulk is a sale or transfer of stock out of the usual course of business or trade of the vendor, or whenever substantially the entire stock of the vendor, or an interest in his business or trade, is sold.

Every person who bargains for or purchases stock in bulk, either for cash or on credit, shall, before closing the purchase and paying the price, obtain from the vendor a statement, verified by statutory declaration, containing the names and addresses of all the creditors of the vendor and the amounts due them. If such declaration is not obtained, the sale is deemed fraudulent, and is void against creditors, unless they are paid in full out of the proceeds of the sale.

Upon obtaining the declaration, the purchaser must either obtain a waiver from the creditors or pay the purchase price to a trustee for distribution among the creditors. In short one of the following alternatives must be complied with:

(i) Creditors must be paid in full;

(ii) A written waiver of the provisions of the Act must be obtained from not less than 60 per cent. of the creditors having claims exceeding $50.00; or

(iii) A written waiver of the creditors as defined in (ii) must be obtained.

If the parties elect to proceed under (iii), the full purchase price must be paid to a trustee to be named by the creditors in such written consent, and if a trustee is not named by the creditors then to a trustee to be named by the vendor.

A bulk sale is not an assignment for the benefit of creditors, nor does the mere making of it make the vendor a bankrupt or an insolvent under any Act in force for bankrupt or insolvent debtors, provided that the provisions of The Bulk Sales Act have been complied with.

CHATTEL MORTGAGES

A mortgage of chattels is a contract between parties whereby the owner transfers to the mortgagee the title to the chattels upon the terms that the transfer shall be void upon payment of a sum of money, or the performance of a certain condition, at an appointed time. In the meantime the owner may keep possession of the chattels. On default of payment, or performance of the condition, the mortgagee is entitled to take possession. A mortgage must be registered within the time fixed by the law of the Province in which the chattels are, and the mortgagee must, within the time fixed by the law of that Province, file a renewal statement showing the amount then remaining due for principal and interest, otherwise the mortgage will be void as against creditors of the owner, although still good between the parties to the contract. In Ontario, when the time has expired, a judge may, under certain circumstances, extend the time for renewal; but the rights of any then creditors are not affected. Information as to where a chattel mortgage must be registered, is given under each Province; see Index.

A mortgage may be given to secure against liability on a promissory note, or to secure future advances.

COMPANIES

A company is a body created by law to carry on the classes of business authorized by its charter of incorporation. This may be either, (a) an Act of the Parliament of Canada; or (b) an Act of the Legislature of a Province; or (c) Letters Patent granted either by the Secretary of State at Ottawa or by the Provincial Secretary of certain Provinces; or (d) a Memorandum and Articles of Association filed, in certain other Provinces. The charter, or Memorandum and Articles, must state the amount of the authorized capital, which is usually divided into shares, either of a stated par value, or without par value, or both.

The expression "authorized capital" means nothing to an investor; neither does the "par value" of a share of stock. What really concerns him is the proportion which the number of shares he holds bears to the capital actually issued It is now a common practice to issue shares without par value. The investor then knows the proportionate interest which he holds of the total issued capital, bearing in mind that the whole of the authorized capital may be issued at any time.

The advantages of an incorporated company over a partnership, or an individual doing business in his own name, are (a) the limited liability of the investor, (b) the right to assign shares without reference to the other members of the company, (c) that changes in the persons of its shareholders do not affect its power to carry on business.

There are two general classes of companies, viz, (a) public companies, in which a shareholder may transfer his shares to anyone, and the number of shareholders is practically unlimited, and (b) private companies, in which the right to transfer shares is restricted, the number of shareholders is limited, and any invitation to the public to subscribe for shares is prohibited. No prospectus is required for a private company.

Incorporation by an Act of the Parliament of Canada, or by Dominion Letters Patent, allows a company to transact its business throughout Canada,—subject, in some Provinces, to a restriction respecting the holding of land. Under a Provincial charter a company may carry on business only in that Province, but may obtain licenses from the other Provinces to carry on business in them. The requisite number of applicants for incorporation varies in different Provinces; in Ontario only 3 are required. Each applicant must be 21 years of age. The fees for incorporation vary in different Provinces.

A shareholder is liable to creditors of the company only for the unpaid balance, if any, due on his shares. A holder of shares of a Bank, however, is liable for double the amount he subscribed for. The ownership of the business of a company always remains in the company, no matter how often the shareholders may change from time to time. A company remains in existence until the termination of its charter. This may be by surrender or forfeiture of its charter, or by the company being wound up, or becoming insolvent.

It is a common practice for an individual to do business under the name of, say, "Smith and Company". In such case it is necessary in some Provinces (as in Ontario) to file a declaration stating the business, how long the partnership has subsisted, and that the only member is "John Smith," or whoever it may be.

The powers and duties of directors vary in different provinces, but among the chief of them are usually those noted below Directors are elected by the shareholders, and have authority to administer the affairs of the company, pass by-laws to regulate the allotment, issue and transfer of stock, make calls on stock, declare dividends, determine the qualifications, appointment and duties of officers, servants and agents of the company, and remove them, compromise with its creditors, make contracts on its behalf, borrow money for its purposes, regulate the holding of meetings, and generally conduct its affairs.

Every director of a Dominion company is liable for six months' wages due to clerks, labourers, servants and apprentices, if it fails to pay them; and every director of an Ontario company is similarly liable for one year's wages due to labourers, servants and apprentices. An officer or director must make no secret profit out of the company. He is responsible for any mis-statement in its prospectus. He should be particularly careful in signing a note, bill or cheque for the company, as he may be held personally liable, even though he signed only as an officer or director.

Every corporation incorporated under the laws of Ontario, or doing business in the Province, must, before June 30th in each year, deliver to the Provincial Secretary, without notice or demand to that effect, a detailed return containing the information required by him, and pay the necessary fee.

Some other Provinces also require certain returns to be made and fees to be paid by companies doing business in the Province but incorporated outside of the Province.

Information as to fees, etc., and copies of the Acts and amendments, may be obtained from the Secretary of State, Ottawa, as to Dominion incorporation, or from the Provincial Secretaries of the various Provinces respecting incorporation under Provincial law.

CONDITIONAL SALE OF GOODS

All Provinces have somewhat similar legislation respecting conditional sales. Where possession of goods is delivered to the purchaser or hirer under a contract which provides that the ownership is to remain in the seller or lender until payment of the purchase price or part of it, such provision is invalid against a subsequent purchaser or mortgagee without notice in good faith and for valuable consideration unless (1) The contract is in writing, signed by the purchaser or hirer or his agent and contains the terms of the sale or hiring, and describes the goods, and (2) In Ontario, within 10 days after the execution of the contract a copy is filed in the office of the clerk of the County or District Court where the purchaser or hirer resided at the time of the sale or hiring. The contract should also be registered in the Registry Office, or Land Titles Office, as the case may be, for the registry division in which the sale was made. In Ontario a renewal statement must be filed in the same office within 3 years after the filing of the copy of the contract. The time for, and place of, registration varies in the other Provinces.

The provision respecting filing does not apply to manufactured goods which, at the time of delivery have the name and address of the seller or lender marked on them, or to a contract respecting household furniture other than musical instruments.

The seller or lender must deliver a copy of the contract to the purchaser or hirer within twenty days after its execution.

In Ontario, forms of notice, renewal statement and discharge are set out in the Act.

Every vendor, whether manufacturer or dealer, has his own forms of hire receipt and lien note. It is advisable to read carefully, before signing, any form tendered, and have it explained fully by a solicitor if not clearly understood.

DIVORCE

The grounds for Divorce and the Courts of the different Provinces which have Acts relating to Divorce are as follow:

ALBERTA—The Supreme Court of Alberta has jurisdiction to grant divorces on proof of adultery.

BRITISH COLUMBIA—The British Divorce Act is in force in British Columbia. Marriage may be dissolved upon proof of adultery by either husband or wife. The Supreme Court of the Province has power to grant divorce. The Court of Appeal has jurisdiction in appeals in divorce and matrimonial causes.

MANITOBA—A marriage may be dissolved on proof of adultery. The Court of King's Bench has jurisdiction to hear petitions for divorce.

NEW BRUNSWICK—The Court of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes has jurisdiction to dissolve or annul a marriage on proof of adultery, consanguinity, or impotence.

DIVORCE—Continued

NOVA SCOTIA—The Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes has jurisdiction to set aside a marriage on proof of adultery, impotence, cruelty, or consanguinity.

ONTARIO—A marriage may be dissolved upon proof of adultery of either party or of certain abnormal sexual acts of the husband. A marriage may be annulled on proof of impotence or insanity, or because of fraud or duress. The Supreme Court of Ontario has jurisdiction in divorce matters.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND—No Court in this Province has authority to grant a divorce. Persons domiciled in the Province may obtain a divorce by private Act of the Parliament of Canada.

QUEBEC—There is no divorce law in the Province. A divorce may be obtained only by a private Act of the Parliament of Canada.

SASKATCHEWAN—The Court of King's Bench has jurisdiction to grant divorces on proof of adultery.

DOWER

Dower is the provision which the laws of Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island make for a widow out of the lands of her husband, for the support of herself and their children. It is a life estate to which a wife is entitled, after the death of her husband, in one third of any lands which he owned at any time during their marriage. The right to dower does not take effect until the death of the husband, and ceases upon the death of the widow. This right may be relinquished by the widow signing a release of her right: this is called a "bar of dower", and is properly inserted in all deeds and mortgages made by the husband. A general power of attorney may be given by a wife to bar her dower in all lands which her husband now owns, or may afterwards acquire. The widow of a trustee, or of a joint tenant, is not entitled to dower. There is no dower in partnership land, but it is always a question of fact whether or not the land is partnership property. It is possible to word a conveyance to a husband so that dower does not attach, and he can then convey the land free of dower. Except in the case of a homestead, a widow has no right to dower in Alberta, but the courts have power to allow her, out of her husband's estate, disposed of by will, such allowance as may be just and reasonable under the circumstances.

In Manitoba there is dower in a homestead only, but in other cases the wife has the same rights in her deceased husband's land as if it were personal property.

There is no dower in British Columbia.

There is no dower in the Northwest Territories or the Yukon Territory, but the widow has the same right in the land of her deceased husband as if such land were personal property.

In Saskatchewan, except under the Homestead Act, there is no dower.

See MARRIED WOMEN.

HUSBAND AND WIFE

In Ontario a marriage may be solemnized only by one of the following persons, and in the presence of two adult witnesses: (a) a clergyman of a church or religious denomination; (b) certain elders, evangelists and missionaries of certain named congregations (including Brethren and Quakers), chosen for such purpose; (c) a commissioner or staff officer of the Salvation Army. A license issued by persons authorized by the government is required unless the banns are published 15 days previously. There is no authority for a civil marriage.

A husband is not liable for the debts of, or contracts entered into by, his wife before their marriage.

In Quebec, all priests, rectors, ministers, and other officers authorized by law to keep registers of acts of civil status, are competent to solemnize marriage, but none of the officers thus authorized can be compelled to solemnize a marriage to which any impediment exists according to the doctrine and the belief of his religion and the discipline of the Church to which he belongs. There is no authority for a civil marriage.

In Provinces other than Ontario and Quebec, provision is made for a civil as well as a religious marriage.

MARRIED WOMEN

Under the Bankruptcy Act, a married woman, whether carrying on a trade or business or not, may make a voluntary assignment for the benefit of her creditors, and so obtain the benefits which the Act affords to insolvent debtors.

In Ontario a married woman may bar her dower although under 21 years of age, but she cannot make a valid will until she is 21.

After her marriage a woman continues to be liable —to the extent of her separate property—for all debts contracted and all contracts entered into or wrongs committed by her before her marriage.

Under the laws of all Provinces and Territories (except the Province of Quebec) a married woman has the same right to deal with property as she would have if unmarried.

The Quebec law may be summarized as follows:

Husband and wife may be either in community of property or separate as to property. In the absence of an ante-nuptial contract the property is in community.

The assets of the community consist of all the immovables the consorts acquire during marriage, of all the movables which they have on the day of the marriage or which they acquire during the marriage or which fall to them by succession or by gift, if the testator or donor has not otherwise provided. The interest and fruits of all property also fall into the community. The husband has the entire administration of the community and can sell and mortgage the property of the community without the consent of his wife. He cannot, however, without her consent dispose of the immovables which belong to her, although he administers them.

When there is separation as to property, the wife retains the administration of her property, movable and immovable. She cannot, however, alienate or hypothecate it without the consent of her husband, or, upon his refusal, the authorization of the court.

Gifts and sales between husband and wife are forbidden.

MECHANICS LIENS—ONTARIO

LIENS ON LAND. A Mechanic's Lien is a charge, authorized by statute, registered against any land upon which is constructed any building, erection or work, by a person who performed any work or service or placed or furnished any materials used in the construction of such building, erection or work. The amount of the charge must not exceed the sum due to such person. Except in the case of a manager, officer, or foreman, or a person whose wages are more than $10 a day, any agreement by a person employed in manual labour that the Act shall not apply, is void. The owner must retain 20% of the contract price (15% if the contract exceeds $15,000) for 30 days after the completion of the work. A lien for wages has priority over other liens to the extent of 30 days wages on the above 20% (or 15%).

Where land upon which work or services have been performed, or materials furnished, is subject to a mortgage or charge existing before the lien arose, such mortgage or charge has priority over all liens to the extent of the actual value of the land at the time the lien arose.

A lien may not be registered against a public street or highway, or for any work done by a municipality.

A lien must be registered in the registry office of the district in which the land lies, before or during the performance of the contract, or within 30 days after its completion, and must be verified by an affidavit. The fee for registration is 25 cents. Unless an action is brought within 90 days after the work or service has been completed, or materials furnished, the lien will cease to exist.

LIENS ON CHATTELS. Any person who has bestowed money, skill or materials upon any thing, by which it is altered or improved, is entitled to a lien upon such thing for the amount of money or value of the skill or materials bestowed when such amount remains unpaid for three months, and, in addition to any other remedy he may have against the owner of such thing, may sell it after giving a week's notice in a newspaper published in the municipality in which the work was done, or, if none, then in the nearest published newspaper, stating the name of the debtor, amount of debt, description of the thing to be sold, time and place of sale, and name of the auctioneer, and leaving a like notice at the last known residence of the owner. The proceeds of the sale to be applied in payment of the amount due and cost of advertising; any surplus to be paid to the person entitled, upon his application.

MORTGAGES

A mortgage may be given on either real or personal property. In the latter case it is called a "chattel mortgage," (see under that heading). A mortgage on real property, i.e., a land mortgage, must be registered in the proper office, according to whether the property is under a Land Titles Act or a Registry Act. In the latter case the seal of the mortgagor must be affixed after his signature; but in a Land Titles mortgage (called a "charge") no seal is required.

A mortgage may be made for any desired period of time, and it cannot be paid off until that period expires unless the mortgage so provides. After a mortgage has expired, it can usually be paid off only after giving the notice required by the law of the Province, and also the payment of a bonus of interest. (In Ontario, 3 months' notice or 3 months' bonus). The word "land" includes all buildings on the land; therefore all such become mortgaged under a land mortgage. Everything that a mortgagor adds to the property to improve its value becomes at once covered by the mortgage. If chattels are affixed to the land they become part of the land. If it be shewn that no valuable consideration was given for a mortgage, it can be set aside. When the mortgage money is not paid when due the mortgagee may (unless there is a Moratorium Act to prevent it) either foreclose or sell the property, and may also sue under the mortgagor's covenant, for the amount of money due. Foreclosure is the method by which, after the period of notice required by law, the mortgagee may, if not redeemed, take the property to his own use, in which case the mortgagor is entirely shut out. If the mortgagee elects to sell the property, the mortgagor is entitled to the balance, if any, remaining after the claims of the mortgagee are paid. An action on the covenant in a mortgage must be brought with the following times: In Ontario, Alberta and Manitoba, 10 years; British Columbia and Saskatchewan, 12 years; New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, 20 years; Quebec, 30 years.

In Provinces where there is a Moratorium Act in force, the mortgagee cannot foreclose or sell the mortgaged property during the period of the moratorium if the mortgagor keeps the interest and taxes paid up.

There is at present no moratorium in force in Alberta, The Postponement of Debts Act, 1937, having been repealed, and The Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act, 1936, declared ultra vires.

The Debt Proceedings Supension Act, 1941, was passed, under which the Lieutenant Governor in Council was authorized to prohibit, until after a day fixed, the issue of processes out of all Courts of the Province and the issue of proceedings by way of distress or re-possession in connection with any debt contracted prior to July 1st, 1936. On application of the Government of the Province of Alberta and to expedite the hearing, the Dominion Government referred this Act to the Supreme Court of Canada, which Court after consideration, declared the Act ultra vires. Under the Alberta Debt Adjustment Act, it is necessary to secure a permit from the Debt Adjustment Board before commencing proceedings to foreclose a mortgage or to cancel an agreement for sale, when the whole of the consideration arose prior to July 1st, 1936. This latter Act was declared ultra vires by the Alberta Courts and this judgment was sustained by the Supreme Court of Canada, but an appeal is now pending to the Judical Committee of the Privy Council.

In Saskatchewan a Judge has held that The Debt Adjustment Act is ultra vires, following a decision of the Supreme Court of Canada upon a similar Act in Alberta. The decision of the Judge is now being appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada. The situation is so involed that it is impossible, at the date of issue of this Almanac, to make a definite statement of the law on this subject. The Debt Adjustment Board, however, is still functioning.

The Moratorium in Ontario has been continued to June 30th, 1943.

NATURALIZATION

All matters relating to naturalization are under the control of the Parliament and Government of Canada. The Secretary of State may grant a certificate of naturalization to an alien who makes application for it. The applicant must prove (a) that he has either resided in His Majesty's dominions for a period of not less than five years; and (b) that he is of good character and has an adequate knowledge of either the English or French languages, and, (c) that he intends to reside in His Majesty's dominions.

"Residence" means residence in Canada for not less than one year immediately preceding the application, and previous residence, either in Canada or in some other part of His Majesty's dominions, for four years within the last eight years before the application. Application must be made to a Judge, through the Clerk of the Court. The application must be posted up for 3 months before it can be heard. The applicant must personally appear, and produce evidence that he is qualified, whereupon a certificate of naturalization may be granted, but the certificate does not take effect until the applicant has taken the oath of allegiance. A minor child may be included in the certificate. A certificate of naturalization may be revoked for false representation in obtaining the certificate, disloyalty, non-residence in the British Dominions for seven years, and other causes.

All persons who have become naturalized British subjects since September 1st, 1922, and who were at the time of their naturalization German or Italian subjects, must now report to the police as enemy aliens, and are subject to war regulations.

PARTNERSHIP

A partnership is an agreement of two or more persons to place their money, effects, labour, and skill, or some or all of them, in a business, and to divide the profits and bear the loss in certain proportions. Almost every Province has special Acts dealing with partnerships. These define the liabilities and duties of partners, and are very similar in all the Provinces. The fact that two or more persons are associated in business, or even that one of them receives a share of the profits, does not necessarily constitute a partnership. A partnership agreement is not required to be in writing unless it is a partnership in land, but it is advisable that the general terms, at least, be written, in order to forestall differences that will invariably occur. If the duration of the partnership is not fixed, it may ordinarily be terminated at any time by notice given by any partner. Unless the agreement states otherwise, the interests of the partners are deemed to be equal. Each partner is an agent of the firm and of his other partners for the purposes of the business, and the act of any partner in the ordinary way of business will bind the firm and the other partners. Each partner is liable jointly with the others for all debts and obligations of the firm while he is a partner. A partner cannot be expelled by the others unless power to do so is given by the agreement. Goodwill is part of the assets of the partnership, and where the assets are sold the purchaser has the exclusive right to use the firm name, and the former partners must not solicit the firm's customers.

In Ontario, a declaration, signed by all persons associated for the purpose of trading, mining or manufacturing (other than butter or cheese) must be filed—within sixty days after the formation of the partnership—with the registrar of the registry division in which they carry on or intend to carry on business. The declaration must contain the full names, occupations and residences of every partner; the name under which the business is to be carried on; the time the partnership has subsisted; and as to the age of the partners. A similar declaration must be filed when any change takes place in the members of the partnership, or in the name under which it carries on business. If any partner fails to sign or file the declaration, he may incur a penalty not exceeding $100. If a person is in business alone, but uses a firm name or designation other than his own name, or with the addition to his own name of the words "and Company", or some other expression indicating that there are several members in the firm, he must file a special declaration which must be filed within sixty days of the time when the name or designation is first used.

See DOWER.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY

A power of attorney is an authority given by one person to another to act for him. It may be either verbal or in writing, but it is advisable to have it in writing owing to possible disputes afterwards, and also to difficulty of proof. The signature of the person giving the power should be witnessed. In most cases the power may be revoked at any time unless it is given for valuable consideration. It is revoked by the death of the person giving it, unless the power itself, or the law, provides otherwise. Any payment made and act done under a power after the death of the person who gave it, or after he has done some act to render it void, shall, notwithstanding such death or act, be valid as respects every person party to such payment or act, to whom the fact of the death, or the doing of the act, was not known at the time of such payment or act. An executor or administrator can only delegate his authority or give a power of attorney if he is engaged on war service.

REAL PROPERTY

In a conveyance of land, there is included, without so stating, all buildings upon it. Land is conveyed by a deed, which is registered in the proper registry office. An intending purchaser of land must search in such registry office to ascertain whether the vendor has a good title to the land, and what mortgages or encumbrances there are against it. There are two systems of registration in Canada. Each Province has one or both systems, one being under a Land Titles Act (sometimes called the Torrens System) and the other a Registry Act. A Land Titles Act is in force in the Provinces of Ontario, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and the Northwest Territories and Yukon Territory. A Registry Act is in force in Ontario, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Under a Land Titles Act the title to the land is practically guaranteed to the purchaser. The British Columbia Act is similar to the other Registry Acts, but with the possibility of obtaining a certificate of absolute title. In the Province of Quebec, a deed is passed by a notary and then registered in the proper one of the 77 Registry Offices. The law of real property is too complicated to detail fully here; it is advisable to consult a Quebec lawyer.

In Ontario an owner of land is only required to show a good title during the preceding forty years.

TRUSTS AND TRUSTEES

A trust is an equitable obligation binding a person (called a trustee) to deal with property over which he has control (called the trust property) for the benefit of persons (called beneficiaries), of whom he himself may be one, and any one of whom may enforce the obligation. No particular form of words is necessary in order to create a trust. Any kind of property may be the subject of a trust. No one is bound to accept the office of trustee. It is a trustee's duty to give to the trust property the same care and attention as a prudent man would give to his own personal affairs, and a trustee must make no profit, in the way of his own business, out of the estate. A trustee is authorized to represent the shares in his hands at all meetings of a company, and may vote accordingly as a shareholder, and may also be a director as long as he holds the shares in trust. Where there are two trustees, or executors or administrators, and one dies, the office and estate are continued in the survivor. Until a new trustee is appointed, the executor or administrator of a sole trustee, or of the last surviving trustee, as the case may be, may exercise any power given to, or perform any trust capable of being exercised by, the sole or last surviving trustee. The law usually allows a trustee a fair and reasonable allowance for his care, trouble and time expended in connection with the estate.

WILLS

Any person of sound mind and of the age of 21 years, may dispose by will of real and personal property. Any member of His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air forces, or any mariner or seaman at sea, on active service, may make a will, although under 21. If the will is signed by him no witnesses are required. Any property acquired between the date of the will and the death of the testator passes under the will. Subject to certain variations in the Provinces mentioned below, the general requirements of a will are as follow: A will must be in writing, and, except in the case of the said members of His Majesty's forces must be signed at the foot or end thereof by the testator, or by some other person in his presence and by his direction; and such signature must be written or acknowledged by the testator in the actual presence of at least two witnesses present at the same time, who shall sign their names on the will, as witnesses, in the presence of the testator. In New Brunswick and Quebec the witnesses must also sign in the presence of each other. Where a will consists of several sheets, it is advisable that the testator and both witnesses should sign or initial each previous sheet as identification. Any alteration in the will should be initialled by the testator and each witness.

A minor may be a witness, unless incompetent, through extreme youth, to understand and testify.

It is desirable that the witnesses should be informed that they are witnessing a will. A person who is taking any benefit under a will should not be a witness, for, although such person would be admitted as a witness to prove the execution of the will, a gift to such witness, or to the husband or wife of such witness, would be void. The occupation and residence of the witnesses should follow their signatures, to enable them more easily to be found when wanted to prove the will, and for this reason persons having permanent residences and occupations are to be preferred.

A will is revoked—among other ways—(a) by the subsequent marriage of the testator, (b) by a later will or codicil properly executed, (c) by the testator, or some person in his presence and by his direction, destroying it with the intention of revoking it.

In the Province of Quebec three forms of wills are recognized, namely, the authentic or notarial form; the form required for holograph wills; and the form derived from the laws of England. The notarial form is made before two notaries, or before one notary and two witnesses. A holograph will must be wholly written and signed by the testator, and requires neither notaries or witnesses. The form derived from the laws of England must be signed by the testator and acknowledged by him in the presence of two witnesses present and signing at the same time. The holograph will, and that in English form, require to be probated after the death of the testator, but the notarial form does not, as it makes complete proof of its contents. The proceedings for probate are much less complicated than in most other jurisdictions. There is no provision for Letters of Administration.

In Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan a will, written and signed by the testator (known as a holograph will) is valid without a witness.

The general law relating to executors and administrators does not permit them to delegate their authority, but in Ontario they may do so if they are on war service—as defined by the Act.

WITNESSES AND SEALS

A signed document is valid without a witness, but if the signature is witnessed it is easier to prove its authenticity In order, however, to register a document, a witness is necessary, as he has to make an affidavit of execution. A witness can be compelled to make proof of the execution of a document. Two witnesses are necessary in the case of a will.

In the case of a corporation no witness is required. If the seal of the corporation is affixed, with the signatures of its proper signing officers, this will be sufficient for the purpose of registration. The seal of a corporation is really its signature, and the names of the officers are merely witnesses to the seal.

The law does not require the address of a witness to a signature, but it is well to have it so that the witness may be easily found if it is necessary to prove the signature.

THE KING'S CIVIL LIST

Immediately after the accession of His late Majesty, George V., there was passed in the Parliamentary session of 1910 the Civil List Act, an Act by which the charges on the consolidated fund for the maintenance of the King and his family are determined.

Until George III. came to the throne in 1760, the income of the sovereign was derived chiefly from Crown lands, from a variety of landed property in England and Wales, Scotland and Ireland, in which the sovereign had a life-interest, and from which he received the rents. In the feudal ages these lands constituted a princely patrimony. In later times this Crown property was greatly reduced by lavish grants to royal favorites. At the Restoration the income from Crown lands was ascertained by a committee of the House of Commons to amount to £217,900 a year, in addition to £4,000 from the Forest of Dean. By the time Charles II. had been on the throne three years he had by his lavish bestowal of the lands on favorites reduced the income to £100,000. William III., by his grants to favorites who had accompanied him from Holland, made further havoc with the Crown domains; so much so that at the accession of Queen Anne, Parliament endeavored to save the remnant by an Act (1 Anne, c. 8) which prohibited alienation of Crown lands, and enacted stringent provisions in regard to the length of the term for which they might be leased and the rents reserved.

Since then, and especially since the accession of the late King Edward VII., the income from the Crown Lands has very greatly increased, until in 1935 the total receipts by the Commissioners were nearly two million pounds, leaving, after all expenses and taxes were paid, a sum of £1,320,000 to turn over to the Exchequer.

Queen Anne, George I. and George II. derived the larger part of their income from their life-interest in the Crown property, but when George III. came to the throne he surrendered his life-interest in the Crown lands. It was turned over to the nation in return for a fixed Civil List of £800,000, subsequently increased to £900,000. George IV., William IV., Queen Victoria and Edward VII., on their accessions, surrendered their life interest in the Crown lands in return for a Civil List. The same course was taken by George V. when he came to the throne.

In 1910 the King's Civil List was fixed at the yearly sum of £470,000, which was the same amount as that granted to King Edward VII.

Following the death of His Majesty George V., (20th January, 1936) the recommendations of a select committee were adopted by the House of Commons in May 1936. The total for the Civil List 1937-8 was fixed at £410,000 as below:

H. M. Privy Purse	£110,000
Salaries of H. M. Household and retired allowances	134,000
Expenses of H. M. Household	152,800
Royal Bounty, alms and special services	13,200
	£410,000

The Civil List of His Majesty George VI remains at £410,000, out of which sum provision is made for Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth.

In addition to the Civil List as above, provision is made for other members of the Royal Family as follows:—

The Queen Mother Mary, an annuity of £70,000.

Younger sons of their Majesties, upon attaining the age of 21, £10,000 each, increasing upon marriage to £25,000 each.

Daughters of their Majesties, other than the Princess Elizabeth, upon attaining the age of 21 or upon marriage, £6,000 each.

The Duke of Gloucester receives £25,000 as above plus £10,000 specially voted in view of his heavier duties during the minority of the Princess Elizabeth.

Princess Elizabeth receives an annuity of £6,000, to be increased at the age of 21, if there should then be no Duke of Cornwall, to £15,000. The Princess Royal £6,000, The Princess Beatrice £6,000.

From the above should be deducted the net revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall which are applied against the Civil List. These revenues are estimated to amount to about £106,000 annually.

Finance Accounts for the year 1940-41 showed a reduction in expenditure of the King's Privy Purse amounting to nearly £20,000.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT

The House of Commons, as now constituted has 615 members. The Irish representation is 13 (all from Northern Ireland). Eire, (Ireland), which embraces the three Southern Provinces sends no members to the British House of Commons.

The maximum duration of Parliament in peace is five years. During the war the time has been extended by special legislation. Members receive salaries of £600 per annum and travelling facilities over the railways.

The House of Lords in 1942 had 767 members who had taken their seats. Sixteen peerages were held by women, whom the House of Lords has so far excluded from membership. The composition of the House of Lords is as follows:—Peers of royal blood, 2; Archbishops, 2; Dukes, 20; Marquesses, 28; Earls, 128; Viscounts, 88; Bishops, 24; Barons, 477; Scottish representative peers, 16; Irish representative peers, 12; total—798, including 31 minors who had not taken their seats.

No title attaches to office in Cabinet or Administration. The title Right Honourable is given to all Privy Councillors. These are appointed for life, and every member of the Cabinet, who is not already of the Privy Council, is made a Privy Councillor.

The thirty-sixth Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland was dissolved on October 25th, 1935 The standing of the parties was: Unionists 448, Labour 63, Liberal National 37, Liberals 31, others 36, one vacancy.

The thirty-seventh Parliament was elected at a General Election on November 14, 1935. The party standing (Oct. 1942) was:—Unionists 354, Liberal National 29, National Labour 6, National 5, a total of 394 on the Government side. Vacancies 6.

Opposition: Labour 166, Liberal 19, Independents 16, others 14; a total opposition of 215.

THE OFFICE OF PRIME MINISTER

Prime Minister—Rt. Hon. Winston S. Churchill.

Until 1894 the office of the Prime Minister was officially unknown. It had developed as a consequence of the establishment of responsible government under a party leader, but the Prime Minister, as such, had no official rank and no precedence. The first official recognition was in the form of a mention in the Court Circular, and it was 1905 before, by Royal Warrant the Prime Minister was given precedence next after the Archbishop of York There is no salary attached to the office of Prime Minister, but the holder usually combines some other office which carries a salary. In precedence the Prime Minister now has his place between the Archbishop of York and the Lord Chancellor of Ireland, and precedence over every member of his Government except the Lord Chancellor.

In 1942 Mr. C. R. Atlee was appointed Deputy Prime Minister in order to relieve Mr. Churchill in the House of Commons when necessary.

THE GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS

THE TREASURY

Prime Minister and Minister of Defence, Rt. Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill.

Chancellor of the Exchequer—Rt. Hon. Sir Kingsley Wood.

Permanent Secretary and Head of H. M. Civil Service, — Sir Horace J. Wilson.

Financial Secretary to the Treasury— Capt. Rt. Hon. H. Crookshank.

Parliamentary Secretaries to the Treasury — Rt. Hon. James Stuart and W. Whiteley (£2,000).

Lords Commissioners of the Treasury— J. P. L. Thomas, A. S. L. Young, Capt. J. H. F. McEwen, L. R. Pym, W. M. Adamson.

The Treasury, of which the Chancellor of the Exchequer is the political head, provides the means for meeting the charges for the military, naval, and civil services. The Parliamentary heads of each of the spending and administrative departments of the Government are responsible for the estimates for their respective departments; but it is the duty of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, with the permanent Secretary of the Treasury, to check all these estimates before they are submitted to the House of Commons in Committee of Supply. The Cabinet becomes responsible for estimates which have been submitted to Parliament, and the rejection or reduction of an estimate by the House of Commons is tantamount to a defeat of the Government. The duties which bring the Chancellor of the Exchequer most prominently before the country, are those in connection with the Budget. The first Lord of the Treasury is one of its Parliamentary heads; but the duties of the First Lord are little more than nominal, and the office is usually held by the Leader of the House of Commons. The Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury is the official title of the Government Whip in the House of Commons. The Junior Lords are his assistants. The Financial Secretary represents the Treasury in the House of Commons.

THE HOME OFFICE AND MINISTRY OF HOME SECURITY

Secretary of State for Home Affairs and Minister of Home Security—Rt. Hon Herbert Morrison.
Permanent Under Secretary of State—Sir Alexander Maxwell.
Parliamentary Secretary—Miss Ellen Wilkinson.

The Home Office has the control of the London police force, and also the oversight of the police forces in the counties and municipal boroughs; and, generally speaking, the Department is responsible for the internal peace of the country. Prisons, convict establishments, criminal lunatic asylums, executions, aliens, and all matters connected with the post-judicial execution of the criminal law, come within the purview of the Home Office. In September 1939, the Ministry of Home Security was formed particularly for the organization and supervision of Air Raid Precaution and similar war work in the Home administration. The Secretary of State for Home Affairs also acts as Minister of Home Security.

THE FOREIGN OFFICE

Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs— Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden.
Permanent Under-Secretary of State, Sir Alexander Cadogan.
Parliamentary Under Secretary—Richard Law.

All diplomatic intercourse is conducted by the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, who is usually of the House of Lords. The office is next in rank and importance to that of Premier, and is sometimes held in conjunction with that office. Ambassadors and consuls receive their instructions from the Foreign Office. Foreign ambassadors in London have their audiences with the Secretary of State, and he also conducts the negotiations for international treaties. The Under Secretary represents the Department in the House of Commons, in the absence of the Secretary.

DOMINION AFFAIRS AND THE COLONIES

Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs— Rt. Hon. C. R. Atlee.
Permanent Under Secretary of State, Sir Eric Machtig.
Parliamentary Under Secretary—P. V. Emrys-Evans, (£1,500).
Secretary of State for the Colonies—Rt. Hon. Col. Oliver Stanley.
Permanent Under Secretary of State—Sir George Gater.
Parliamentary Under Secretary— Rt. Hon. H. Macmillan.

The Colonial Office dates back to 1660, when a Committee of the Privy Council was appointed for the Plantations, as the Colonies were then called. This Council was continued until 1768, when colonial affairs were placed under the control of a Secretary of State. When the United States secured their independence in 1783, the office of Colonial Secretary was abolished, and colonial affairs were managed from the Home Office. From 1794 to 1854 the colonies were under the War Department. In 1854 a separate Secretaryship of State for the Colonies was created. In August, 1907, the Colonial Office was organized in 3 departments: (1) Dominion Department, concerned exclusively with the self-governing colonies (2) Crown Department concerned with Crown Colonies; and (3) Department having charge of legal and financial business.

Since 1925, the conduct of affairs for the Dominions has been under a Secretaryship of State for Dominion Affairs.

THE INDIA OFFICE

Secretary of State for India. Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery.
Permanent Under-Secretary of State, Sir D. T Monteath.
Parliamentary Under-Secretary—Duke of Devonshire.

The India Office in its present form dates from 1858, when an Act of Parliament was passed which directed that all the powers and duties hitherto exercised by the old East India Company, or the old Board of Control, should in future be exercised and performed by one of His Majesty's principal Secretaries of State. Under the Government of India Acts of 1915, 1916 and 1919, the Secretary for India is assisted by a Council of not less than eight nor more than twelve members, nominated by the Secretary. At least half the members must have served or resided ten years in India and not have left India more than five years before their appointment. The expenditure of the revenues of India is subject to the control of the Secretary of State In cases where the Indian Legislative Assembly and the Viceroy are in agreement, the Secretary for India would not ordinarily intervene. While the Governor-General is empowered by the Government of India Act, 1935, to act in his discretion, he is subject to direction by the Secretary of State. Indian Government business in England is transacted at the India Office and at the Office of the High Commissioner for India.

The Burma Office is a separate branch of the India Office under the Secretary of State for India.

seats in Parliament, and are respectively at the heads of the departments into which the Admiralty is divided. The foreign movements of ships are at the instance of the Cabinet, the Foreign Office, and the Colonial Office, and it is from these authorities that the Lords of the Admiralty receive their orders. In time of war the orders go from the Cabinet. At other times the movements of vessels are directed by the Foreign Office and the Colonial Office.

Under the Education Act of 1918, the approval of the Board of Education is necessary for all schemes for the development and organization of elementary and secondary education for children under 18, drawn up by the local authorities—the County and County-borough councils—which have charge of this work.

INCOME TAX RATES AND ESTATE DUTY IN GREAT BRITAIN, 1942-1943

The standard rate of Income Tax in the United Kingdom (Great Britain and Northern Ireland) for the year 1942-3, imposed by the Budget of July, 1942, is 10s. 0d. in the pound.

Allowances to Individuals

Earned Income Allowance. One-tenth of the earned income, up to a maximum allowance of £150 for any individual. Persons aged 65 and upwards whose total income does not exceed £500 are entitled to a deduction of one-tenth of their total income, whether earned or derived from investments; in the case of married couples this relief is granted when either spouse reaches the age of 65.

The balance remaining after deducting the earned income allowance from the taxpayer's total income (as computed for Income Tax purposes) is known as the "assessable income." The following deductions are made from the assessable income:—

Personal allowance. Married man £140; other persons £80

Additional allowance for wife's earned income, nine-tenths of that income up to a maximum of £80.

Children under 16 years of age, or over 16 if continuing full-time education, or, if apprentices, in certain circumstances, £50 for each child.

Widower's or Widow's housekeeper £50. Unmarried person's widowed mother or other female relative taking care of children, £50.

Dependent relatives incapacitated by old age or infirmity, or in certain other circumstances, not over £25.

The income remaining after deduction of these reliefs is known as the taxable income; the first £165 of taxable income is charged at 6s. 6d. in the £, and the remainder at the standard rate. Certain deductions from the total tax payable are allowed in respect of Life Insurance Premiums and Dominion Income Tax relief, in accordance with statutory provisions.

A portion of the tax payable by individuals is earmarked as a post-war credit to be available to the taxpayer after the war in such manner as Parliament may determine.

Rates of Income Tax

The standard rates have been as follows from 1914:

1914	1s. 8d.	1931-33	5s. 0d.
1915	3s. 0d.	1934-35	4s. 6d.
1916-17	5s. 0d.	1936	4s. 9d.
1918-19-20	6s. 0d.	1937	5s. 0d.
1922	5s. 0d.	1938	5s. 6d.
1923-24	4s. 6d.	1939	7s. 0d.
1925-29	4s. 0d.	1940	8s. 6d.
1930	4s. 6d.	1941-2	10s. 0d.

Sur-Tax

On incomes in excess of £2,000 a further charge or tax is imposed, called the Sur-tax, which is payable as a deferred instalment of Income Tax on the 1st January following the year of assessment. Thus the Sur-tax in respect of the year 1940-41 is payable on the 1st January, 1942. The additional rates charged on these incomes begin at 2s. 0d. in the £ on the first £500 of the excess over £2,000, and rise by steps to the rate of 9s. 6d. in the £ payable on the excess over £20,000.

Double Taxation

A person liable to British Income Tax on any part of his income which has already suffered tax in a British Dominion is entitled to relief from British tax thereon to the extent of either (a) the Dominion rate of tax, or (b) one-half of the appropriate rate of British tax (including Sur-tax) whichever is the less.

Special arrangements are in force between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Irish Free State, whereby each country exempts from Income Tax and Sur-tax income arising within its borders to persons who are resident in the other, and grants relief from double taxation to persons resident in both countries in respect of income taxed by both

National Defence Contribution (1937)

The Budget of 1937 introduced a new tax—the National Defence Contribution—on all trades or businesses (excluding professions.) The tax was imposed on profits arising after the 31st March, 1937, the rate of tax being 5% of the profits in the case of a trade carried on by a body corporate and 4% in any other case.

If the profits are less than £2,000, no tax is payable. If the profits exceed £2,000 but are less than £12,000, an allowance of 1/5th of the difference between the profits and £12,000 is made.

Excess Profits Tax (1939)

The War Budget of 1939 introduced the Excess Profits Tax levied on all trades and businesses (excluding professions). The tax was imposed on all profits earned after March 31st, 1939, and now amounts to 100% of the excess of the annual profits over the profits of a pre-war standard year. The tax is an alternative tax to The National Defense Contribution and the taxpayer has to pay either E.P.T. or N.D.C. whichever is the greater. No tax is payable on profits less than £1,000.

PURCHASE TAX

The Finance (No. 2) Bill 1940 provided for the charge of Purchase Tax on purchases of certain scheduled goods at specified rates, ranging from 16⅔% to 33⅓%. In general, liability to tax arises when the goods pass from the wholesaler to the retailer. Manufacturers and wholesale merchants dealing in chargeable goods must be registered. This enables them to deal with one another freely in the goods, or to export them without liability to tax. Tax becomes chargeable when the goods are sold by the registered manufacturer or wholesaler to an unregistered person, generally the retailer, or where there is no retail stage, to the public. This tax came into operation early in 1941.

BRITISH FINANCE AND TRADE

Fifth War Budget

In the House of Commons on 14th April, 1942, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, introducing the Fifth Budget of the War, made a general survey of the financial and economic front. Looking back on a full twelve months of Lease and Lend assistance, Sir Kingsley Wood said:

"President Roosevelt's reports to Congress on Lend-Lease aid indicate that up to February of this year the assistance given in this way to all countries was not far short of £650,000,000—assistance of which the greater part was to the United Kingdom. More recent returns indicate that Lend-Lease aid is now running at a rate of about £100,000,000 per month, and that the figures for assistance to the United Kingdom alone up to 31st March last are likely to reach £600,000,000. The future trend must obviously depend not only upon the growth of American production, but also upon shipping possibilities and military necessities in different parts of the world. A large proportion of the total henceforward will be transferred to India and the Dominions. But the continuance of the Lend-Lease policy in this flexible form again records the determination of the United States to join with us in putting to the best use the resources of the Allied nations. I know that the Committee will share my sense of the gratitude, which we owe to the American President and people, for this further tangible evidence of their aid and co-operation.

Our overseas purchasing power has also been substantially increased by the fine action of the Canadian Government in providing free of charge to us all the supplies that we need from Canada up to a total of 1,000,000,000 dollars. Here again, voluntary and generous action has ensured that no financial difficulties shall impede the free flow of necessary supplies from overseas.

These provisions mean that our financial problems in North America, which in 1940 were one of my chief preoccupations, have now been greatly reduced. We can certainly feel assured that the movement of munitions and other essential supplies to this country from overseas will be conditioned not by our ability, or inability, to find the means of payment, but, as I have said, by the requirements of military policy and by the availability of shipping or other means of transport. But I must again make it clear that this does not mean that our overseas financial problems in other parts of the world have disappeared. We must still safeguard our exchange resources, so that they may be adequate to meet the many calls upon them not covered by any special form of assistance."

Economic Policy

Turning to the Domestic Front, the Chancellor referred to the marked development of the Government's economic policy which ensured the subordination of normal peace-time methods of living to the requirements and urgency of the war situation. The supply of goods had been curtailed although the money incomes of the community as a whole were much increased; the main necessities of life had been rationed to reduce consumption and ensure fair distribution; heavy taxation had operated against excessive purchasing power and National Saving had contributed to financial stability; the introduction in numerous instances of maximum prices and the extension of the policy of stabilization of prices had done much to prevent or limit rises in wholesale or retail prices.

In April 1941 the Food Index was 23 per cent above pre-war level. In April 1942 it had been reduced to 18 per cent. Rents had been practically stationary since the beginning of the war by the Rent Restriction Act, and railway fares had now been stabilized.

In the technical financial sphere the policy of control had been steadily pursued. New issues were almost entirely confined to those made by the Government or regarded as otherwise essential to the War effort.

Government borrowing was at very low rates of interest. Since National War Bonds were first placed on tap and up to 31st March 1942 they had raised no less than £1,316,000,000 while Savings Bonds had raised £666,000,000. The recent introduction of Tax Reserve Certificates, designed to facilitate advance provision for taxation more especially by Companies and corporate bodies, had also been very successful.

Expenditure and Revenue

After dealing with measures taken to prevent waste and extravagance and particularly the valuable work of the Select Committee on National Expenditure, the Chancellor referred to main items of Expenditure and Revenue:

"A year ago I estimated that expenditure, apart from the Vote of Credit, would amount to £707,000,000. It has come out at £691,000,000. I estimated expenditure out of the Vote of Credit, exclusive of expenditure in the United States, at £3,500,000,000. I was not at that time able to estimate expenditure in the United States, but I repaired this omission in the course of my speech on the Vote of Credit on the 16th December, when I indicated that the amount of payments in the United States would be of the order of £300,000,000. Consequently, I took the total Budget estimate for the Vote of Credit at £3,800,000,000. The actual figures come out at £4,085,000,000. Thus, expenditure out of the Vote of Credit for 1941-42 was some £285,000,000 in excess of my estimate, and this represents higher expenditure, partly at home and partly in overseas countries, both countries of the Empire and foreign countries other than the United States.

"Revenue also," continued the Chancellor, "has exceeded my expectation."

"As regards Inland Revenue Duties, Income Tax, Sur-Tax, Estate Duties and Stamp Duties did not diverge materially from my estimate, but, due mainly to an excess of £60,000,000 in the receipts from National Defence Contribution and Excess Profits Tax, direct taxation receipts as a whole were £76,000,000 above my estimate.

"The corresponding figure for Customs and Excise Duties is £127,000,000—£704,000,000 collected as against an estimate of £577,000,000. This collection reflects mainly the ever-growing purchasing power in the hands of our people.

"Details of the actual receipts under the various heads for Customs and Excise Duties will be found in the White Paper, but I must refer specifically to the Purchase Tax. The Committee will remember that this new tax was not brought into operation until October, 1940, and had not got into its stride by the time the estimate for 1941-42 had to be made. It looked, on such data as were available, as if the tax might produce something like £100,000,000 a year, but in view of the possible dislocation of trade through air raids and of the limitation of supplies under Board of Trade Orders, I thought it prudent to estimate for only £70,000,000. Actually I have received over £98,000,000. This figure includes approximately £8,000,000 arrears of duty from the previous year, but, owing to an administrative change in the accounting arrangements made to suit the convenience of traders, the yield represents less than a full 12 months' dutiable transactions.

The total of revenue in 1941-42 was £2,074,-000,000—£288,000,000 in excess of the estimate—as against total expenditure of £4,776,000,000."

For the year 1942-43, Sir Kingsley Wood estimated total expenditure at £5,286,000,000, or an increase of £510,000,000 over the actual expenditure of 1941-42.

"The assistance to be given by the Government of Canada will be treated as a cash receipt and will not be deducted from the estimated expenditure out of the Vote of Credit; on the other hand, the figure for our total Budgetary expenditure naturally includes no provision for goods supplied to us on Lend-Lease terms. It follows that the amount of our Budgetary expenditure for next year no longer gives a useful comparison either of the total resources at the disposal of the Government for the purposes of the war or of the amount met out of our domestic resources. The grand aggregate of the total resources at our disposal under all heads in the coming financial year will probably exceed £6,500,000,000, compared with a total of less than £4,000,000,000 in the financial year 1940-41 and less than £5,500,000,000 in the financial year 1941-42."

Social Services

The Chancellor reminded the House that even in the midst of war extensive social services were being maintained and the estimated expenditure included £234,000,000 for these Services. Other important figures were £125,000,000 as the cost of stabilization policy and £32,000,000 for improved pay and allowances for Fighting and Civil Defence Services.

To meet this enormous sum, Foreign disinvestments, including substantial growth in the sterling balances of overseas countries, together with the Canadian Government's contribution, reduced the figure to £4,500,000,000. New proposals were submitted to raise the total domestic receipts to £2,400,000,000 leaving £2,100,000,000 from extra-Budgetary funds including company depreciation and sinking funds and personal and institutional savings.

On October 15th, 1942, the Government said it would require a vote of £1,000,000,000 to pay for the war during the final quarter of 1942.

Trade

Figures showing the current value of United Kingdom trade are not published, but in pre-war years total imports were approximately £900,000,000 a year and total exports (merchandise) £500,000,000. Import control was instituted at the outbreak of war and practically the whole of this trade is now done either for Government account or is subject to Board of Trade licensing control.

On the outbreak of hostilities it became vitally necessary to safeguard the United Kingdoms, exchange resources to provide for the greatly increased purchases of raw materials and munitions, particularly in dollar and other hard currency countries. A long list of luxury and non-essential imports became licensable on 5th September 1939.

As the United Kingdom's resources became strained to the utmost to buy, ship and handle the imports urgently required for the prosecution of the war, the restrictions were extended to practically the whole range of the country's imports. Further, nearly all the administrative concessions had to be withdrawn so that, with the exception of a few articles such as newspapers, press photographs, fresh fish (other than frozen) for which import control is either impracticable or undesirable and which are admissible under open general license, and a short list of raw materials which may be imported freely from the British Empire and certain other countries, control of imports is complete. Concessions applying to gifts have also been curtailed and goods shipped to the United Kingdom and entered with Customs as in transit or for transhipment became subject to licence.

New restrictions on the production of non-essential goods and the encouragement of the manufacture of "utility" lines were announced by Dr. Dalton (President of the Board of Trade) on July 3, 1942, including the prohibition of the manufacture of pianos, trunks, fancy goods, cutlery, jewellery, toys, etc.

Export trade is also governed by Board of Trade licence but statistics of the volume and value of exported goods are not published during the continuance of the war.

BRITISH CUSTOMS DUTIES ON IMPORTS

Under the British Import Duties Act, 1932, a duty of customs, known as the "general ad valorem duty", equal to 10 per cent of the value of the goods, is chargeable on all goods imported into the United Kingdom, with certain exceptions. War Budgets have imposed increased Customs and Excise duties on several classes of goods including beer, wine, spirits, sugar, tobacco, etc.

On specified classes of goods "additional duties" are chargeable as well as the general ad valorem duty. These additional duties are imposed by Treasury Orders made in accordance with the provisions of the Import Duties Act, 1932. Certain goods are exempt. Goods of approved Canadian origin coming within the scope of the Import Duties Act are admitted free.

An increasing proportion of all imports is now being brought in directly for Government account. During 1941 more than 90,000 Import Licenses covering a great variety of goods were issued by the Licensing Department of the Board of Trade.

Imperial Preference

The general conditions governing admission of imported goods to Imperial Preference are that the goods must be shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Customs and Excise to have been consigned from and grown, produced or manufactured in the British Empire. Manufactured articles are not entitled to Preference unless a prescribed proportion of their value is derived from expenditure of a prescribed kind which has been incurred in the British Empire or the United Kingdom in respect of materials grown or produced or work done in the British Empire or the United Kingdom. Different proportions of value have been prescribed for different classes of manufactured goods.

Full information as to the qualifications for and method of claiming preference may be obtained from the Secretary, Customs House, London, E.C.3, from any Collector of Customs and Excise or from H.M. Trade Commissioners and Trade Correspondents in the Overseas Dominions; also from Department of Trade and Commerce Foreign Tariffs Division, Ottawa.

Schedules of all dutiable goods and rates of duty are included in the "Customs and Excise Tariff of the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland," published periodically by H. M. Stationery Office, York House, Kingsway, London, W.C. 2, price, by post, 1s. 4d.

THE BRITISH NAVY

The Royal Navy is governed by the Board of Admiralty at Whitehall, headed by the First Lord of the Admiralty who is a member of the Cabinet. In addition the Board includes 4 sea lords, the Deputy Chief of Naval Staff and the Assistant Chief, one Civil Lord, a Parliamentary and Financial Secretary and a permanent Secretary. The Civil Lord and the Parliamentary Secretary are members of the Ministry. The King is ex-officio Admiral of the Fleet.

Strength of Fleet at Outbreak of War

The strength of the British fleet as on 3rd September, 1939, excluding many smaller craft, was: Capital ships (battleships and battle cruisers) 15, aircraft carriers 7, cruisers 62, destroyers 185, submarines 58. The personnel was 135,000 officers and men.

Merchant Navy

Besides the regular units of the Royal Navy and the Royal Marines the Admiralty now controls a large part of the Merchant Navy. The merchant fleet was armed for its own defence and from 1937 defence courses were given to officers of the merchant navy. In 1938 these courses were extended to include men of the merchant service.

On the outbreak of war many merchant ships were taken over by the Royal Navy, the larger ones to be used as armed merchant cruisers, and the smaller ones, such as trawlers, for mine sweepers, submarine hunting, boom defences, salvage work and contraband examination, while yachts and motor boats were converted for anti-submarine and coast patrol work. These ships are officered by Royal Naval Reserves (largely ex-officers of the Navy), Royal Naval Volunteer Reserves (men with a knowledge of the sea and ships who have volunteered for this work) or officers taken over from the merchant service.

Fleet Air Arm

This branch which consists of planes based on aircraft-carrying ships used to be under the dual control of the Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force. Since May 1939, however, it has been under the sole control of the navy though the initial training for the pilots is still given by the R.A.F. The pilots then pass on to the navy for their specialized training.

Other Special Work

Mine sweeping and Mine laying is largely carried out by converted trawlers, pleasure steamers and similar craft.

Corvettes are a new type of ships built for submarine chasing. Only 190 feet long, they are much cheaper to produce. They need only 50 men—a third of the company of a destroyer. They have a speed of 17 knots.

Motor Torpedo Boats are another new class of submarine chaser suitable for narrow or sheltered waters. These are very fast—the 70 foot class has a speed of 40 knots.

Balloon Barrage ships are stationed off the coast and in some cases accompany convoys to discourage low-flying air attack.

The Auxiliary Patrol Service—a new branch of the navy—is largely carried out by ex-fishing boats, which now form a look-out cordon around the shores of Britain.

Submarine Depot Ships are the bases from which submarines operate. Several submarines are based on each depot ship. When the submarines come in to the ship the crews are taken aboard where baths, recreation, libraries, equipment, good food and rest are provided. Meanwhile the submarine itself is overhauled, refuelled and reprovisioned.

Salvage is another important branch of the navy's work. Many tugs and other small boats have been converted for the purpose of saving ships damaged by enemy action, towing them into port where possible, or, at least, saving all possible cargo and equipment.

Canteen Boats resupply naval ships in harbour to save time in getting the ships to sea again. These boats, which are run by the Navy, Army and Air Force Institute, are from 48 to 62 feet long, carry about 20 tons of cargo and can resupply a heavy cruiser's canteen in 3 hours.

Training

Officers before the war were chosen from the Royal Naval College at Dartmouth or from the "Public Schools." At the beginning of the war many were added from the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. These men, who all have some previous knowledge of the sea, are given 3 months special naval instruction before getting their commissions. In 1940 a new scheme was put into operation whereby men from the lower deck, recommended by their officers and having an adequate educational standard, are given the same 3 months training as the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserves and then get commissions. All temporary officers are now to be taken from the lower deck.

A further means of democratising the Royal Navy is the new plan for scholarships to the Royal Naval College at Dartmouth.

PRESENT STRENGTH OF THE NAVY

Mr. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, stated on Sept. 20, 1942, that British shipyards have made good all the capital ships, aircraft carriers and cruisers lost during the last 2¼ years, and that destroyer losses have been "more than replaced".

THE BRITISH ARMY

Before the Norman Conquest every freeman was bound to bear arms in defence of his country at the call of the King. This national militia was partially, but never wholly, superseded by the feudal system, introduced by William I, under which lands were held in return for units of cavalry and infantry which had to serve for 40 days at the cost of the lord. In addition, kings frequently maintained mercenaries, first out of their private funds and later out of the royal revenues. Parliamentary consent to the maintenance of an army was established in the seventeenth century as a result of a struggle between the Commons and the Stuarts. The standing army became a national institution under James II, and the Mutiny Act, passed at the accession of William III, in 1689, and which has been renewed annually ever since, forms the basis of army discipline, without which a standing army would be impossible.

At the present time the British Army is made up of the Regular Army, the Territorial Army, the men conscripted under the Act of 1939, The Home Guard and numerous men who have volunteered for the duration of the war. The Territorial Army was merged with the Regular Army at the outbreak of war; the Home Guard in November, 1940.

ORGANISATION

The Secretary of State for War is the President of the Army Council. Other members are responsible for different branches of army organisation, such as training, recruiting, supplies, etc. The council is composed of civil, military and political members.

The British Army at home and overseas is broken up into different Commands, each in the charge of a Field-Marshal, a General or a Lieutenant-General.

An Army is an elastic term for troops in a given geographical area. It consists of Army Troops and several Army Corps.

An Army Corps is commanded by a Lieutenant-General and consists of Corps Troops and several Divisions—usually two.

A Division is commanded by a Major-General, and consists of Divisional Troops and three Brigades. It is an army in miniature as it may be made up of all types of troops.

A Brigade is commanded by a Brigadier and consists of 3 or 4 Battalions and Artillery and Medical units.

A Battalion is commanded by a Lieutenant-Colonel, and consists of Battalion Headquarters and four Companies.

A Company is commanded by a Captain and consists of Company Headquarters and four Platoons.

A Platoon is commanded by a Lieutenant or 2nd Lieutenant and consists of four Sections.

A Section is commanded by a Sergeant. Its strength is nine non-commissioned officers and men.

Besides the broad divisions of infantry, artillery, cavalry (now almost entirely mechanised), anti-aircraft and coast defences, there are a number of specialised corps drawing very largely for their wartime personnel on men who have had special training in their civilian life:

The Royal Engineers—RE, commonly known as "sappers,"—are nearly all expert technicians and their rate of pay is on a complicated scale somewhat higher than the ordinary soldier.

The Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers—R.E.M.E.—In 1942 this new technical corps was created to bring about closer co-ordination between maintenance and the Army units the corps will service, and to establish a more direct link with the arms industries. All R.E.M.E. officers will be fully qualified engineers. Tradesmen in the ranks will have a new Army title. They will be called "Craftsmen".

The nucleus of this corps consists of men transferred from the Royal Army Ordinance Corps, Royal Army Service Corps, and Royal Engineers. The work of the corps is the repair and maintenance of all kinds of mechanical equipment.

The Royal Armoured Corps includes the Royal Tank Regiment. Recruits receive a 16 weeks course in gunnery, driving, radio, etc.

The Royal Army Medical Corps—RAMC—volunteers are accepted up to 55.

The Royal Army Ordinance Corps—RAOC—is responsible for supplies and repairs for the Army. The age limit is 55.

The Royal Army Service Corps—RASC—recruits are accepted for certain positions up to 55.

The Royal Army Pay Corps—RAPC—Open to men up to 45, and in some positions, 55.

The Royal Army Veterinary Corps—RAVC.

The Royal Corps of Signals. Open to men up to 45, and in certain cases, 55.

The Royal Army Dental Corps—RADC.

The Royal Army Chaplains Department.

The Military Police is recruited from men up to 45 and, in certain cases, 55. They receive a special 8 weeks intensive training.

The Pioneer Corps, which was created at the beginning of the war, might be described as the labour force of the army. The age limit for recruits is 50. Besides their work for the army—building huts, defences, etc.—this corps has done much good work in clearing debris after air raids in London and other bombed cities. It is open to alien volunteers and contains many European refugees.

The Auxiliary Territorial Service—ATS—is the women's branch of the Army and undertakes secretarial, domestic and transport duties.

The Commandos—These special service units were instituted immediately after Dunkirk and soon began to raid the German held coast-line of Western Europe. The members are specially selected from volunteers of all arms for physical fitness and daring and are given very strenuous and thorough training in secluded areas. Their operations have extended from the coast of Norway to that of France, North Africa and the Dodecanese. In 1941 the commandos were formally constituted a separate body and wear the word "Commando" on their shoulders.

Conscription

The passing of the Military Training Act (Conscription) in May 1939, was an historic development in Britain's preparations to strengthen her land-fighting forces, and on the outbreak of war (September 3, 1939), she was able to call on 1,000,000 men. At the outbreak of war, that Act was superseded by the National Service (Armed Forces) Act, which extended the liability for military service to all men between 19 and 41, the classes to be be called up as required.

Calling Up

By October, 1942, the Government had been given power to call up for the Forces or Civil Defense all men and women aged 18-50, except married women living with their husbands, or women with their own or adopted children under 14 living with them.

All men aged 18-50 and all women aged 18-45 have been registered either for the Forces (including Civil Defense) or for direction into industry.

Of the men, the 18-40 age-group (inclusive) has been registered for the Forces, and those aged 18½-40 have already been called up. Men aged 40-50 have been registered for industry.

Of the women, single women aged 20-30 are liable to be called up for service with the Forces, and the 20-24 group has already been called.

Out of 33,250,000 men and women between the ages of 14 and 65, 23,250,000 are already in full-time work for the nation in one capacity or another. Less than 3,000,000 persons, including children, the sick, crippled and aged are not engaged in some form of national service.

The handling of all manpower questions is dealt with by the Ministry of Labor and National Service. This includes balancing the relative needs of the Armed Forces, Civil Defence and Industry.

Home Guard

The Home Guard was established, under the name of Local Defence Volunteers, by Order-in-Council May 17th, 1940.

The Home Guard is on a voluntary and unpaid basis, but compensation equivalent to that accorded to private soldiers is given for permanent injury while on Service. In November, 1940, it was incorporated into the British Army.

Maximum periods of training and duty at present (1942) are fixed at eight hours each four weeks. The new conditions of service apply to the existing members of the Home Guard, but those who had joined voluntarily and were unable to accept the new conditions of service were allowed for a specified period to resign at a fortnight's notice.

It was announced on March 11, 1942, that it had been decided to bring into force powers of compulsory enrolment in Civil Defence Regions for the Home Guard in an area corresponding approximately to the areas embraced by the Eastern, South-Western and Southern Military Commands.

In November, 1942, the strength of the Home Guard was approximately 2,000,000 men. Age limits are 17 to 65. Commissions were introduced in 1941, the commissioned ranks being:

Area Commander	—Brigadier
Zone Commander	—Colonel
Group Commander	—Colonel
Battalion Commander	—Lt.-Colonel
Company Commander	—Major
Platoon Commander	—Lieutenant

THE ROYAL AIR FORCE

The Royal Air Force

The separate existence of the Royal Air Force dates back to 1918, towards the end of the last war.

The Royal Air Force is administered by the Air Council, which consists of the King, as Chief of the Air Force, the Secretary of State for Air, who is President, the Under-Secretary of State for Air, who is Vice-President, Chief of Air Staff, Air Member for Personnel, Air Member for Supply and Research, and Secretary to the Council.

There are four main Home Commands of the R.A.F.:

The Fighter Command, whose most important duty is the defence of the British Isles.

The Bomber Command, the offensive branch of the Air Force.

The Coastal Command, which is responsible for reconnaisance, U-boat hunting, guarding convoys and sea rescues, on the waters surrounding the British Isles from Norway to Gibraltar and from Germany to Iceland and the mid-Atlantic.

The Army Co-operation Command—the branch which works with the army—specializes in reconnaisance, photography, bombing, dropping supplies, transport, etc.

In addition to these are the Training Command, the Maintenance Command, the Balloon Command, the Ferry Command and the Reserve Command.

The Overseas Commands are mainly responsible for keeping open the air and sea routes of the Empire.

Commands are divided into Groups which are again divided into Stations. Each Station has several Squadrons, which normally consist of 9 planes each, posted at it. There are three Flights of three planes each to a Squadron.

The Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve is made up of men between conscription age and 48, many of whom were drawn from the Civil Air Guard which was set up before the outbreak of war. This reserve is mainly employed in non-operational duties as instructors and ferry pilots.

The Ground Staff is composed of technicians and tradesmen who look after the planes and undertake the many administrative and scientific jobs connected with the running of an air field. A considerable staff is also required to look after the welfare of the flying personnel.

The Women's Auxiliary Air Force—W.A.A.F.—forms a part of the ground staff; they undertake technical, administrative and domestic work.

The Royal Observer Corps—volunteers who are in some cases paid by the hour—watching posts throughout the country reporting on enemy aircraft and plotting their course. This corps, set up unofficially before the war, is now an officially recognized branch of the R.A.F. It includes both men and women. Present strength about 30,000. Reservation age for whole-time members is 35. Women may be enrolled where men cannot.

The Air Transport Auxiliary—A corps of men and women pilots organized by British Airways under the Air Ministry. These pilots are employed in ferrying planes between the aerodromes and factories and repair plants.

Training

British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. A great number of airmen are in training in various parts of the Empire. In Canada the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, in December 1941, was much ahead of schedule and in 1942 was extended to March, 1945. Over 131 establishments are in operation.

Other organizations exist in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Rhodesia. The Colonial Governments of Malaya, Trinidad and Bermuda have devised arrangements for giving elementary flying training. A full-scale training organization has been formed in India.

Air Training Corps

The Air Training Corps provides a scheme to give spare time training to boys over 16 who wish later to join the R.A.F. The scheme is designed to bring them up to the educational standard required for entry into the R.A.F. and to give them a grounding in special air force work. The corps has school, university and local units. Training is given free, admission to the corps being dependent on a recommendation from the candidate's school teacher.

BRITAIN'S AUXILIARY WAR SERVICES

An interesting and important development in Britain's national war effort has been the establishment of auxiliary services on a nation-wide basis.

Civil defence was organized to demand the co-operation of every citizen, and efforts were made by civic authorities in every part of the United Kingdom to ensure that, in every possible emergency, maintenance of order, the continuance of business and industry, and the protection of vital communications should be preserved. The number of civilian auxiliaries is estimated (Sept. 1942) at 6,000,000, of whom 4,500,000 at least are Fire Guards.

A.R.P. (AIR RAID PRECAUTIONS)

Ministry of Home Security, Whitehall

A.R.P. falls under the control of the Ministry of Home Security, Whitehall, S.W., but is administered through the local government authorities of the U.K. The evacuation of children from industrial and crowded areas; the organization of medical and hospital services; the provision of gas-masks for every man, woman and child, and steel shelters for every householder who wished to possess one; the protection of public buildings, and the erection of public shelters are illustrations of air raid measures taken throughout the whole of the United Kingdom.

A.R.P. (AIR RAID WARDENS)

Ministry of Home Security, Whitehall

Among the many duties which devolve upon the Air Raid Warden are the distribution and fitting of gas-masks to the residents in his area, to see that the houses and shops in his sector rigidly adhere to the black-out regulations, and to get people off the streets and into shelter whenever air raids are in progress. Other A.R.P. workers include stretcher-bearers, decontaminators, and first aid squads.

Compulsory Fire Watching of premises by all able-bodied men of 18 to 60 years of age, except by specific exemption, now forms part of the general A.R.P. organization.

The Women's Voluntary Services for civil defence is a national voluntary organization which, in co-operation with the various departments concerned, and under the Ministry of Home Security undertakes the enrolment of women in the different branches of civil defence work. The services with which it particularly deals are air raid precautions, nursing and first aid services, mobile canteens and kitchens, and evacuation.

In October, 1942, it had 1,500 offices throughout the British Isles with a register of 1,033,357 members.

It also replaces airmen by airwomen in 60 different ground appointments and trades, including clerks, fabric workers, radio operators, aircraft hands, cooks, equipment assistants, etc. Pay ranges from 1s. 4d. to 22s. 4d. per day. AIR DEFENCE CADETS

c/o Air Ministry, London, W.C.

Some time before the war the Air League undertook to raise 20,000 air cadets in the country, to provide a reservoir from which British aviation could draw in time of emergency. Cadets are enrolled between the ages of 14 and 18, and are given instruction in the general theory of flight, airmanship, air navigation, aircraft engineering and maintenance, wireless and A.R.P., operations of the observer corps, balloon barrage, searchlight and anti-aircraft gunners.

AIR TRAINING CORPS

An important new long-term training scheme to increase the number of pilots, navigators, and technicians for the Royal Air Force and the Fleet Air Arm came into operation on 1st February, 1941. This is known as the Air Training Corps and was instituted to provide pre-entry training for young candidates for air-crew and technical duties. Units are formed at the Universities, at private and secondary schools, and locally. On the completion of the course, candidates who are regarded as suitable for commissions, go direct to a flying training or observer training school. The age limit is 16 to 18 years.

R.A.F. CIVILIAN WIRELESS RESERVE AND R.N. (VOLUNTEER) RESERVE

c/o Air Ministry, London, W.C.

This organization is composed of proficient amateur wireless operators, mainly holders of G.P.O. Transmitting and Experimental Licenses.

NATIONAL FIRE SERVICE

To meet the risk of destruction and fires anticipated by mass air attack, the Auxiliary Fire Service was brought into being by the Air Raid Precautions Act, 1937. In 1942 this service was re-organized and is now administered under the Secretary of State (Home Office) through a Fire Service Council and local Deputy Commissioners.

The duties of the auxiliary firemen fall into several categories. The majority are trained for active fire-fighting duties, and have their own appliances—pumps of different types and capacities—and they work side by side with the permanent brigade. Others are serving with emergency water units.

In 1941 compulsory Fire-Guard service was introduced. In the areas concerned all fit men between the ages of 18 and 60 are required to undertake service unless they are in the categories of persons exempted. Members of the Fire-Guard are on duty up to 48 hours per month, during the hours of darkness. During 1942 an order was made making Fire Guard duty compulsory for women aged between 20 and 45, and with it an order for the compulsory training of all fire-guards, and the extension of obligation to men not hitherto compelled to perform fire-guard duties.

Women's Branch

Women are recruited for the London Auxiliary Fire Service in two categories: 1. Motor drivers. Their three main duties are: (a) To act as car despatch riders (b) to act as drivers of light vans or cars for towing trailer pumps to fires (c) to act as drivers of staff cars. 2. Watch-room workers. The principal duties are: (a) To take in fire calls and to order on the appropriate appliances (b) to receive information as to damaged water, gas and electricity mains, roads rendered impassable, collapsed buildings, poison gas, etc. (c) to maintain the necessary records as to fires, casualties, etc.

W.R. (Police War Reserve)
New Scotland Yard, London, S.W.

In war time members of this reserve are paid and receive free medical treatment. Compensation is payable in respect of death or disablement in the course of duty. In most forces there exists a first-class organization of Special Constables.

Women's Auxiliary Police Corps

Employment of women in the Police service has become general, not only in the capacity of women police but also as members of the W.A.P.C., performing clerical, telephone, canteen and motor duties.

The Balloon Barrage

This is a department of the R.A.F. but has its own organization.

Balloon Command has an Air Vice-Marshal at its head and is responsible for all barrages.

Regional control is maintained by groups, the largest being London. Four centres subdivide the work of defending London, each centre maintaining its squadrons, flights and balloon sites.

The force consists of a combination of regulars, volunteer reservists and auxiliaries.

The basic function of the barrage is to keep the enemy air-craft at a certain height and to prevent dive-bombing.

The manning of the balloons and their maintenance is now very largely in the hands of the W.A.A.F.

The Air Transport Auxiliary (A.T.A.)

Consists of several hundred pilots from various countries, who are engaged in ferrying planes from factories to air bases.

Each unit comprises some 350 men and 24 searchlights. About 10 men are allotted to each post. They formerly used a sound-locator with large moveable trumpets 4½ feet apart. The more scientific system of Radiolocation has completely revolutionized the method of enemy aircraft detection. This came into general operation during 1941.

The Civil Nursing Reserve

Ministry of Health, Whitehall, S.W.

When war was declared the Civil Nursing Reserve was formed to enrol recruits and place trained nurses in jobs where they were most needed. All hospitals throughout the country were grouped into sectors with a matron in charge of the staffing of each sector.

Every hospital has a nucleus of its permanent pre-war staff, but a large proportion of the staff is provided by the Civil Nursing Reserve and members of the Red Cross and St. John. The C.N.R. has its own uniform and provides nurses of every grade—the State-registered nurse, the assistant nurse (with some training), the nursing auxiliary who has taken her First Aid and Home Nursing examinations and has had fifty hours' hospital experience; and the raw recruit to nursing who does a fortnight's intensive training in hospital before she is drafted out as an auxiliary.

Pay varies from £110 per annum for the fully trained resident nurse to £1 per week for the auxiliary. A probationer receives £40 per annum. Most nurses work a fifty-two-hour week; others forty-eight hours, notably in L.C.C. hospitals, but this is not general.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX ACT, 1940

(Chapter 32 of the Statutes of 1940 as amended by Chapter 15 of the Statutes of 1940-41 and Chapter 26, 1942)

Briefly, The Excess Profits Tax Act imposes a minimum tax (in addition to Income Tax) on profits, whether excess profits are earned or not.

This minimum tax was 12% for 1940 and 22% for 1941 in the case of corporations. For unincorporated taxpayers the rates were 12% for 1940 and 15% for 1941.

Thus, for 1941 and until June 30th, 1942, the excess profits tax on corporations is either

(1) 22% of the total profits, or

(2) 75% of the excess profits, whichever is the greater.

For 1942, from July 1st, 1942, the excess profits tax on corporations is

(1) 12% of the total profits

plus (2) 10% of the total profits

or

(3) 100% of Excess Profits,

i.e., (1) plus the greater of (2) or (3)

The 1941 rates are effective until June 30th, 1942.

The 1942 rates are effective from July 1st, 1942.

Persons Liable to Tax

Section 3 provides: In addition to any other tax or duty payable under any other Act and as herein provided, there shall be assessed, levied and paid

(a) a tax in accordance with the rate set out in the Third Part of the Second Schedule to this Act, upon the profits during the taxation period; and

(b) a tax in accordance with the rates set out in the First Part of the Second Schedule or in the Second Part of the Second Schedule to this Act upon the profits or the excess profits respectively during the taxation period, whichever of such taxes is the greater in amount, of every person residing or ordinarily resident in Canada or who is carrying on business in Canada:

Provided that in the case of all persons other than corporations the tax as provided in the Third Part of the Second Schedule to this Act shall not apply.

(2) The tax exigible under this section in accordance with the rates set out in the First Part of the Second Schedule to this Act shall in no case operate to reduce the profits of a taxpayer below the amount of $5,000.00 before providing for any payments to proprietors, partners or shareholders by way of salary, interest or otherwise. (1942, c. 26, s. 2.)

Rate of Tax on Profits

The Second Schedule referred to above gives the rates of tax as follows:—

First Part—10% of the profits of corporations and joint stock companies and 15% of the profits of all persons other than corporations, before deduction therefrom of any tax paid thereon under the Income War Tax Act.

Rate of Tax on Excess Profits

Second Part—100% of the excess profits.

Third Part—12% of profits of corporations and joint stock companies, before deduction therefrom of any tax paid thereon under the Income War Tax Act.

Summary of Rates of Income Tax and Excess Profits Tax

Incorporated Companies

Rates to June 30th, 1942.

1. Income Tax.....18%
2. Excess Profits Tax on Total Profits.....22%

or

3. Excess Profits Tax on excess profits.....75%

(The greater of 2 or 3).

The greater of 22% on the total profits or 75% on the Excess Profits, after deducting therefrom Income Tax on such Excess Profits, is payable. If the total profits are in excess of 155.69% of the standard profits the 75% rate applies on the Excess Profits over the Standard Profits.

Rates from July 1st, 1942.

1. Income Tax.....18%
2. Excess Profits Tax on Total Profits.....12%
3. Excess Profits Tax on Total Profits.....10%

or

4. Excess Profits Tax on Excess Profits.....100%

(The greater of 3 or 4.)

The 12% rate is payable in all cases, together with the greater of 10% of the total profits or 100% of the Excess Profits after deduction from the latter of the 18% Income Tax and 12% Excess Profits Tax thereon. If the total profits are in excess of 116.66% of the standard profits the 100% rate applies on the Excess Profits over the Standard Profits.

Companies with profits not in excess of $5,000, before providing for any payments to shareholders by way of salary, interest, or otherwise, and which heretofore have been entirely exempt from Excess Profits Tax are now liable to an Excess Profits Tax of 12% in addition to the Income Tax of 18% making a total tax of 30%.

Payment of Tax Instalments

The tax payable by a company under both the Excess Profits Tax Act and the Income Tax Act must now be paid by monthly instalments during the 6 months immediately prior to the close of its fiscal period and 6 months subsequent to the close of its fiscal period as follows:

(a) as to the first 8 months 1/12 of the estimated tax each month, having regard to the previous or anticipated current year's income, applying the new rates, and

(b) as to the last 4 months, ¼ of the balance each month, (after deducting therefrom the previous 8 months' payments) on the income (of the period just closed), at the new rates.

This change applies to tax on profits of fiscal eriods ending on or after 31st December, 1942.

A company whose fiscal period ends 31st December, 1942, must pay the first instalment of 1942 tax (both Income and Excess Profits) calculated as in paragraph (a) above, on or before 31st July, 1942. If the fiscal period ends during January 1943, the first instalment must be paid in August 1942; if the period ends in February 1943, the first payment must be made in September 1942 and so on progressively by months.

This requirement is not to be confused with any method of optional pre-payment of taxes heretofore in effect. It is a new and continuing requirement of the taxing laws.

Substantial interest will be charged with respect to any unpaid monthly instalments.

Definition of Profits and Periods

Section 2 (f) "Profits" in the case of a corporation or joint stock company for any taxation period means the amount of net taxable income of the said corporation or joint stock company as determined under the provisions of the Income War Tax Act in respect of the same taxation period; except that if a corporation or joint stock company is subject to the tax imposed by the Second Part of the Second Schedule to this Act, profits shall not include, for the purposes of the said tax, any dividends deemed to have been received by such corporation or joint stock company by virtue of section 19 of the Income War Tax Act unless

(i) the capital of the corporation or joint stock company including capital stock, bonds, debentures and any other securities issued by the said corporation or joint stock company is, to the extent of 50 per centum or more, held by or on behalf of individual holders numbering 25 or less, or

(ii) the said corporation or joint stock company is controlled directly or indirectly by any such number of individuals by means of the ownership or control of the majority of the voting stock of the said corporation or joint stock company and unless the corporation or joint stock company which is being wound up, discontinued or reorganized, within the meaning of section 19 of the Income War Tax Act aforesaid, is likewise controlled in the manner described in sub-paragraph (i) or sub-paragraph (ii) hereof by individuals numbering 25 or less.

(g) "Profits" in the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation or joint stock company, for any taxation period, means the income of the said taxpayer derived from carrying on one or more businesses, as defined by section three of the Income War Tax Act, and before any deductions are made therefrom under any other provisions of the said Income War Tax Act;

STANDARD PERIOD

Sub-Section (h) Defines the "Standard Period" as the period comprising the calendar years 1936 to 1939, both inclusive, or such years or parts thereof since the first day of January, 1936, during which the taxpayer was in business:

Provided that where the profits of a taxpayer in any one of such calendar years, after adjustment by the Minister pursuant to section 4 of this Act, were less than 50 per centum of the average of the profits for the remaining years of the standard period the taxpayer may designate as his standard period the remaining years aforesaid of the standard period, and

Provided further that if the Minister is satisfied that a taxpayer did not actually commence business operations until a date subsequent to the date of the nominal commencement thereof he may fix the date of the actual commencement of business operations as the date of commencement thereof for all purposes under this Act.

STANDARD PROFITS

Sub-Section (i) Defines the "Standard Profits" as the average yearly profits derived by a taxpayer in the standard period in carrying on what was in the opinion of the Minister the same class of business as the business of the taxpayer in the year of taxation, or the standard profits as determined in accordance with section five of this Act:

Provided that standard profits shall not include for the purposes of this Act property in any form received by a taxpayer deemed to be the payment of a dividend under section 19 of the Income War Tax Act; and

Provided further that for the purposes of this section profits shall be deemed to have accrued on an equal daily basis throughout any fiscal period or portion thereof which is in question; and

Provided further that losses incurred by the taxpayer during the standard period shall not be deducted from the profits in the standard period but the years of losses shall nevertheless be counted in determining the average yearly profits during the said standard period; and Provided further that a taxpayer's standard profits shall not be deemed to be less than $5,000.00 before any adjustment is made in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

ADJUSTMENT OF STANDARD PERIODS AND PROFITS

Provisions are made for the adjustment of standard periods and profits in order that the tax may be equitable. Section 4.

STANDARD PROFITS—DEPRESSED OR NEW BUSINESSES

Section 5 (1) If a taxpayer is convinced that his standard profits were so low that it would not be just to determine his liability to tax under this Act by reference thereto because the business is either of a class which during the standard period was depressed or was for some reason peculiar to itself abnormally depressed during the standard period when compared with other businesses of the same class he may, subject as hereinafter provided, compute his standard profits at such greater amount as he thinks just, but not exceeding an amount equal to interest at 10 per centum per annum on the amount of capital employed in the business at the commencement of the last year or the fiscal period of the taxpayer in the standard period computed in accordance with the First Schedule to this Act:

Provided that if the Minister is not satisfied that the business of the taxpayer was depressed or that the standard profits as computed by the taxpayer are fair and reasonable he may direct that the standard profits be ascertained by the Board of Referees and the Board shall thereupon, in its sole discretion, ascertain the standard profits at such an amount as the Board thinks just, being, however, an amount equal to the average yearly profits of the taxpayer during the standard period or to interest at the rate of not less than 5 nor more than 10 per centum per annum on the amount of capital employed at the commencement of the last year or fiscal period of the taxpayer in the standard period as computed by the Board in its sole discretion in accordance with the First Schedule to this Act, or the Minister shall assess the taxpayer in accordance with the provisions of this act other than as provided in this subsection.

(2) If on the application of a taxpayer the Minister is satisfied that the taxpayer was not carrying on business during the standard period or that the profits of the standard period were so low that it would not be just to determine the liability of the taxpayer under this Act by reference thereto because the actual date of commencement of business by the taxpayer or the date of commencement fixed by the Minister pursuant to paragraph (h) of subsection 1 of section 2 of this Act was subsequent to the 31st day of December, 1937, but before the first day of January, 1939, he shall direct that the standard profits be ascertained by the Board, or (whether or not there has been an application by the taxpayer) in the case of any taxpayer who has not commenced business before the second day of January, 1939, the Minister shall direct that the standard profits be ascertained by the Board and the Board shall in its sole discretion thereupon ascertain the standard profits at such an amount as the Board thinks just, being an amount equal to a return on the capital employed by the taxpayer at the commencement of the first year of fiscal period in respect of which he is subject to taxation under this Act at the rate earned by taxpayers during the standard period in similar circumstances engaged in the same or an analogous class of business, the capital of the taxpayer to be computed by the Board of Referees in its sole discretion in accordance with the First Schedule to this Act:

(3) If on the application of a taxpayer the Minister is satisfied that the business either was depressed during the standard period or was not in operation prior to the first day of January, 1938, and the Minister on the advice of the Board of Referees is satisfied that because,

(a) the business is of such a nature that capital is not an important factor in the earning of profits, or

(b) the capital has become abnormally impaired or due to other extraordinary circumstances is abnormally low standard profits ascertained by reference to capital employed would result in the imposition of excessive taxation amounting to unjustifiable hardship or extreme discrimination or would jeopardize the continuation of the business of the taxpayer the Minister may direct that the standard profits be ascertained by the Board of Referees and the Board shall in its sole discretion thereupon ascertain the standard profits on such basis as the Board thinks just having regard to the standard profits of taxpayers in similar circumstances engaged in the same or analogous class of business.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section the decisions of the Board given under subsections one, two and three of this section shall not be operative until approved by the Minister whereupon the said decisions shall be final and conclusive;

Provided that if a decision is not approved by the Minister it shall be submitted to the Treasury Board who shall thereupon determine the standard profits and the decision of the Treasury Board shall be final and conclusive. (1942, c. 26, s. 3.)

(5a) In the case of taxpayers engaged in the operation of gold mines or oil wells which have come into production after January 1st, 1938, the amount of standard profits shall be ascertained on the basis of a presumed volume of production during the standard period equal to the volume of production of the taxpayer in the taxation year and a presumed selling price for the product during the standard period equal to the average selling price of the said product during the standard period.

Deductions From Profits

6. (1) A corporation or joint stock company taxable under the Second Part of the Second Schedule to this Act shall be entitled, in respect of any taxation period, to deduct from profits the following:—

(a) such proportion of the income tax payable under the Income War Tax Act (or payable under the said Act prior to the application of sections 8, 89 or 90 thereof) and such proportion of the tax payable under the Third Part of the Second Schedule to this Act, for the same taxation period as the excess profits taxable under the Second Part of the Second Schedule to this Act bears to the total profits of the taxpayer.

Reserve for Future Inventory Losses

Provision is also made by Section 6 for a reserve against future depreciation in inventory values; applicable to Excess Profits Tax only.

Exemptions

Section 7. Among profits not taxable under this Act are those of certain taxpayers exempt under the Income War Tax Act; the profits of a profession carried on by individuals if the profits of their profession depend wholly or mainly upon their personal qualifications and if little or no capital is employed; the profits of taxpayers other than corporations or joint stock companies who do not earn profits in excess of $5,000 before providing for any payments to proprietors or partners by way of salary, interest or otherwise. The profits of personal corporations deriving income solely from investments; the profits of non-resident owned investment companies, and, applicable to the year 1941 and subsequent years the profits of diversified investment corporations which satisfy certain conditions.

In 1942 new clauses were added exempting the profits of base metal and strategic mineral mines which come into production in the three calendar years commencing Jan. 1st, 1943 for the first three fiscal years.

Small Corporation Profits

7a. The following profits shall not be liable to taxation under section 3 of this Act in accordance with the rates set out in the First and Second Parts of the Second Schedule to this Act:—

The profits of a corporation or joint stock company which, in the taxation year, do not exceed the sum of $5,000.00, or, where the taxation year of any corporation or joint stock company is less than 12 months, do not exceed the proportion of $5,000.00 which the number of days in the taxation year of such corporation or joint stock company bears to 365 days, before providing for any payments to shareholders by way of salary, interest, dividends or otherwise. (1942, c. 26, s. 9.)

Deductions not Allowed

Section 8. No deduction is allowed for

(a) Any tax payable under this Act in respect of any taxation period or

(b) Any unreasonable or abnormal expenditures.

Deductions Allowed

Section 9 (1) A taxpayer shall be entitled to deduct from the tax that would otherwise be payable by him under this Act the amount paid to Great Britain or any of its self-governing dominions or dependencies for excess profits tax in respect of the profits of the taxpayer derived from sources therein and the amount paid to any foreign country for excess profits tax in respect of the profits of the taxpayer derived from sources therein if such foreign country in imposing such tax allows a similar credit to persons in receipt of profits derived from sources within Canada.

Provided that the Minister may in his discretion allow a taxpayer to deduct from the sum total of his income tax and excess profits tax the sum total of the income tax and excess profits tax paid to Great Britain or to any of its self-governing dominions or dependencies or to any foreign country if such foreign country in imposing such taxes allows a similar credit to persons in receipt of profits derived from sources within Canada.

(2) Such deduction shall not exceed the same proportion of the tax otherwise payable under this Act or the sum total of the income tax and excess profits tax otherwise payable under this Act and the Income War Tax Act as provided for in the proviso to subsection 1 hereof as that which the taxpayer's net profits from sources within such country and taxed therein bears to his entire net profits from all sources.

1940 Fiscal Periods Differing From Calendar Year.

Section 11a. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Act and the provisions of the Income War Tax Act made applicable to the making of returns and the payment of tax under this Act, every person liable to pay excess profits tax in respect of a fiscal period ending in the year 1940 prior to the 31st day of December of that year may file returns and pay the tax as if such fiscal period ended on the 31st day of December, 1940. 1940-41, c. 15, s. 13.

Refundable Portion of Tax (effective July 1st, 1942.)

18. (1) There shall be refunded to the taxpayer an amount equal to 20% of the profits above the point at which the tax calculated under the First Part of the Second Schedule is equal to the tax calculated under the Second Part of the Second Schedule if such profits have been paid by way of taxes under the Income War Tax Act and this Act to the Receiver General of Canada.

(2) The refundable portion shall be repaid to the taxpayer or to his legal representative after the cessation of hostilities between Canada and Germany, Italy and Japan, as follows:—

(a) as to any refundable portion referable to the profits of fiscal periods ending in the year 1942, during the second fiscal period of the Government of Canada commencing after cessation of the said hostilities;

(b) as to any refundable portion referable to the profits of fiscal periods ending in the year 1943, during the third fiscal period of the Government of Canada commencing after cessation of the said hostilities; and so on for successive fiscal periods; or notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) hereof, at such earlier times and in such instalments as the Governor in Council may determine.

(3) The date of cessation of hostilities shall be that date proclaimed by the Governor in Council that a state of war no longer exists, or such other date as he may determine for the purposes of refunds hereunder. (1942, c. 26, s. 10).

Avoidance of Taxation

THE INCOME WAR TAX ACT

The Income War Tax Act, 1917, and amendments to the year 1927 were consolidated by Chapter 97 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927. This, together with subsequent amendments, including the 1942 amendments, Chapter 28, represents the Act as it stands at December 1942.

The Excess Profits Tax Act is summarized on page 270.

The following is a summary of some of the more important provisions of the Act. The summary is not official and, in case of doubt, persons interested are recommended to apply to their local Inspector of Income Tax or write to the Commissioner of Income Tax, Ottawa.

Explanatory brochures have been prepared by the Department, giving rates etc. in concise form, which are available upon application.

3. The Minister may reduce the amount of any salary, wage, fee, etc., to determine earned income.

4. Where an expense is common both to earned income and investment income the Minister shall determine the extent to which the expense may be applicable to either class of income. The determination of the Minister hereunder shall be final and conclusive.

if such aggregate is not greater than an amount equal to one-half of the taxes otherwise payable by him under subsections 1 and 3 of the said section 9 less the deduction provided by section 8 of this Act or the aggregate of

2. Such deduction shall not exceed the same proportion of the tax otherwise payable under this Act or the sum total of the income tax and excess profits tax as that which the taxpayer's net profits from sources within such country bears to his entire net profits from all sources, without taking into account the exemptions provided by Rule 1 of Sect. 2 of Par. A of the First Schedule of this Act.

4. A Minister, High Commissioner, officer, servant or employee of the Government of Canada or an agent general for any of the provinces of Canada, or any officer, servant or employee thereof, resident outside of Canada, shall be entitled to deduct from the tax that would otherwise be payable by him under this Act the amount paid as income tax to the government of the country in which he resides.

THE VICTORIA CROSS

The Victoria Cross was instituted by Queen Victoria at the close of the Crimean campaign, 1856. It is a Maltese cross, made of gun metal, with a Royal Crest in the centre and underneath it an escroll bearing the inscription "For Valor," and is awarded, irrespective of rank, to members of any branch of His Majesty's Services, either in the Imperial Forces or those of any British dominion, colony, dependency or protectorate, the Mercantile Marine, nurses or staffs of hospitals, or to civilians of either sex while serving in either regular or temporary capacity during naval, military, or air force operations. It is awarded only "for most conspicuous bravery or some daring or pre-eminent act of valour or self-sacrifice or extreme devotion to duty in the presence of the enemy." For additional conduct of similar bravery, a Bar is added. The ribbon was formerly red for the Army and blue for the Navy, but is now crimson for all services. A pension of £10 a year accompanies the decoration, plus £5 a year for every Bar granted; in cases of necessity it may be increased to £50.

THE GEORGE CROSS

Instituted by Royal Warrant, Sept. 24th, 1940, amended May 8th, 1941. The George Cross is to rank with and immediately after the Victoria Cross.

The Cross is intended primarily for civilians, and award in the military services is to be confined to actions for which purely military honors are not normally granted.

The Cross is to be awarded "only for acts of the greatest heroism or of the most conspicuous courage in circumstances of extreme danger".

A Bar is to be added, when an award is to be made to one who is already the recipient of the Cross.

The Cross replaces the Medal of the Order of the British Empire, and living holders of the latter will receive the George Cross in exchange.

The first Canadian to receive the George Cross was Lieut. Robert Davies in October, 1940, who, with two members of his squad, saved St. Paul's Cathedral from destruction by disposing of an aerial time bomb.

THE GEORGE MEDAL

Royal Warrant, Sept. 24th, 1940.

The George Medal, also announced by the King, "is intended primarily for civilians and award in the Military Services and is to be confined to acts of great bravery for which purely military honors are not normally granted".

THE MEMORIAL CROSS

Established by Order-in-Council, P.C. 4210, dated August 27th, 1940; as amended by Order-in-Council P.C. 2135, dated March 28th, 1941, effective as of September 1st, 1939.

The Memorial Cross is to be issued as a momento of personal loss and sacrifice on the part of mothers and widows of Canadian sailors, soldiers, airmen or merchant seamen, who have laid down their lives for their country during the present war.

A Cross will be issued to the widow or mother of the deceased, or to each if both survive. If, after becoming entitled to the Cross the widow or mother dies, the Cross will be delivered to the eldest next-of-kin of the soldier, etc.

THE IMPERIAL SERVICE MEDAL (I.S.M.)

It is provided that members not eligible for companionships in the Imperial Service Order may, on retirement after service of twenty-five years, receive the "Imperial Service Medal," which is a circular medal of silver bearing the inscription "For Faithful Service".

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER (D.S.O.)

This Naval and Military Order of Distinction was instituted by Queen Victoria, September 6th, 1886, as a means of rewarding individual instances of meritorious or distinguished service in war.

This is awarded to officers of the Non-Permanent Active Militia after 20 years efficient service, completed after the 22nd of September, 1931, towards which service in other auxiliary forces of the Empire may be reckoned as qualifying service; and service in the ranks can be counted half time for the award. (An officer who has served 15 years in the ranks would be allowed to count seven and a half years towards the qualifying service) and, provided the officer was serving in the auxiliary forces on the 4th of August, 1914, his services during the war may reckon double as qualifying service. This award is available to officers of the military Auxiliary Forces of the Empire.

THE COLONIAL AUXILIARY FORCES OFFICER'S DECORATION (V.D.)

The arms are those of England, Scotland, Ireland and France, with a "difference" to mark them as Canadian, namely on the lower third of the shield, a sprig of maple on a silver shield. The crest is a lion holding in its paw a red maple leaf, a symbol of sacrifice. The supporters are, with some slight distinctions, the lion and unicorn of the Royal Arms; the lion upholds the Union Jack, and the unicorn the ancient banner of France.

The motto — A MARI USQUE AD MARE — "From sea to sea" — is an extract from the Latin version of verse 8 of the 72nd Psalm — "He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth."

There is a tradition, that the Fathers of Confederation derived the designation "Dominion" from this verse.

AGRICULTURE

The Department of Agriculture was constituted in 1867 (31 Vic. Chap. 53). It carries on extensive research work in connection with the cultivation of field crops, fruit and vegetable growing, live stock, dairying, poultry raising, bee culture, etc. An extensive and well equipped system of experimental farms and stations has been established from coast to coast, and the results of the research work thereon are embodied in a series of pamphlets gratuitously supplied to all enquirers. Subsequent to the outbreak of the War, the Agricultural Supplies Board, Bacon Board and Dairy Products Board were established. Indian Affairs Branch

Up to 1830 the administration of the Indians was of a military character. For six years after Confederation, Indian Affairs was attached to the Department of the Secretary of State. In 1873 it was transferred to the Department of the Interior, and in 1880 a separate Department of Indian Affairs was established. On Dec. 1, 1936, under the Department of Mines and Resources Act it was replaced by the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources. The Indians today number more than 118,000 and are located on over 5,428,598 acres divided into some 2,191 reserves. 363 Indian schools of all classes are in operation working in conjunction with the various churches, educating 17,281 pupils. About 206,094 acres are under cultivation. An important part of the administration is the Indian Trust Fund, which amounts to $15,026,137.49, and is derived from sales or leases of land, timber, and minerals, and from other miscellaneous sources.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL REVENUE

The Department of Customs was constituted in 1867, (31 Vic. Chap. 43). Its work was the control and management of the collection of the Duties of Customs, and of matters relating thereto. In April, 1921, the Department of Inland Revenue, the work of which was the collection of all Duties of Excise, was amalgamated with the Department of Customs, under the title of Department of Customs and Excise, (11-12 Geo. V., 26).

In 1924, Income Taxation was transferred to this department from the Department of Finance. As this Department collects the great bulk of the revenue of the Dominion, its name was changed to Department of National Revenue as from April 1st. 1927 (17 Geo. V., Chap. 34).

ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE

Honorary Commandant, His Majesty The King

In 1873 the North West Mounted Police was constituted, (36 Vic. Chap. 35) to provide Police protection in the unsettled portions of the North West. In 1904 the title "Royal" was given to the Force. In 1920 the Dominion Police was amalgamated with this Force and the name changed to "Royal Canadian Mounted Police". The headquarters was moved from Regina to Ottawa and the Force may now be called upon to perform duties in any portion of the Dominion. In 1928 the Royal Canadian Mounted Police absorbed the Saskatchewan Provincial Police and in 1932 the Provincial Police Forces of Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island were absorbed in like manner. During the year 1932, the Force also assumed the administration of the Preventive Service Branch of the Department of National Revenue. As the duties of the Force have increased greatly since the outbreak of war in September, 1939, authority was granted the Commissioner to re-engage 500 ex-members of the Force, and to engage 500 recruits, and 2,500 special constables, if required. The guarding of vulnerable points throughout the Dominion rests largely upon the Canadian Militia and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The term of engagement is one year for recruits, with re-enlistment for a period not exceeding five years. Recruits are trained at Regina, Saskatchewan, and Rockcliffe (near Ottawa), Ontario. The strength, October 1942, is 6,222, which includes civilian clerks and reserves. This figure also includes 197 members of the No. 1 Provost Company now serving in the C.A.A. and 5 members serving with the R.C.A.F. At the present time the Force has 124 horses and 751 motor vehicles.

FLAGS FLOWN IN CANADA

FLAG OF GOVERNOR GENERAL—In 1930 His late Majesty King George V approved the design of a Flag for the Governor General of Canada which would be symbolic of the position of the Governor General as the King's personal representative. The Flag so approved by His late Majesty is of the following description: "On a blue field, the Royal Crest,—the Imperial Crown proper, thereon a lion statant-guardant or, "crowned proper—subscribed 'CANADA' in black on a yellow scroll."

THE UNION JACK is the official Flag to be flown on land in Canada. It is the Flag to be flown by British subjects on land in all His Majesty's dominions. With the badge of a province it is the official flag of the Lieutenant-Governor of that province.

THE CANADIAN RED ENSIGN, with the Shield of the Arms of the Dominion of Canada in the fly, should be used only on Canadian registered merchant vessels. (Authorized by Admiralty Warrant of 2nd Feb., 1892, and Order-in-Council P.C. 843 of 26th April, 1922 for Canadian registered vessels.)

THE CANADIAN BLUE ENSIGN, with the Shield of the Arms of the Dominion of Canada in the fly, is used on the Jack staff of all ships and vessels of the Royal Canadian Navy and has also been adopted as the official flag for vessels in the Canadian Government Service.

BATTLE FLAG—The Battle Flag of the Canadian Army, Overseas, authorized by the Department of National Defence, carries the Union Jack in the upper half adjoining the staff. The field is white with 3 maple leaves in the lower half, and in the upper half away from the staff, 3 gold fleur-de-lys within a blue circle. The following is the official description: "On a white field, three maple leaves conjoined on one stem, in red with veins of green; in a canton next the staff the Union Flag; in the upper fly a blue roundel charged with three yellow fleurs-de-lis."

It may be noted that, while the three maple leaves in the Coat of Arms of Canada are "proper"—that is, they may be of any colour proper to a maple leaf—this permissible variation does not extend to the flag in question, which specifically displays the maple leaves "in red with veins of green".

R.C.A.F. FLAG—The flag has a light blue background with the centre of the Union Jack in the canton next the staff. In the centre of the side of the flag away from the staff is a red maple leaf on a white roundel superimposed on a dark blue roundel.

GAME LAWS, FISHERY REGULATIONS, CLOSE SEASONS, LICENSES, &c.

Fisheries regulations for all parts of Canada are made by the Dominion authorities. Administration of all the tidal fisheries, save those of the mainland portion of Quebec, is likewise a federal function, and the fisheries of the Yukon and Northwest Territories and the non-tidal fisheries of Nova Scotia are also administered by the Dominion. The fisheries of Alberta and Saskatchewan, the non-tidal fisheries of British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island and all the fisheries of Quebec, except those of the Magdalen Islands, are under the administration of the respective provinces.

Migratory birds are protected under a Dominion law known as the Migratory Birds Convention Act, which is administered by the National Parks Bureau, Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, Canada. This Act is based upon the Migratory Birds Treaty with the United States.

With this exception, and except in National Parks, game laws are under the administration of the various provinces.

A Dominion Law, the Game Export Act, passed in 1941, prohibits the export of game from any province without permit from the province.

Bird sanctuaries have been established under the Migratory Birds Convention Act, referred to above, and by many of the provinces as well.

Details as to close seasons, licenses, etc., are not given here, owing to the fact that regulations for the ensuing months are, in some cases, not available when this volume goes to press and where available are often subject to changes before the opening of the season.

Full information may be obtained by writing to the following address: Controller, National Parks Bureau, Ottawa.

DOMINION PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATION

PARLIAMENT OF CANADA

The Parliament of the Dominion of Canada consists of the Senate with 96 members and the House of Commons with 245 members, senators being appointed for life by the Governor-General and members of the House of Commons being elected by the people. The ordinary legal limit of duration for each Parliament is five years, sitting at least once each year. The Speaker is appointed by the House.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

A redistribution Act, passed after each census, readjusts the number of representatives in the House of Commons in accordance with rules laid down in Section 51 of the British North America Act, 1867, of the Imperial Parliament. These rules provide that the province of Quebec shall always have a fixed number of 65 members and that there shall be assigned to each of the other provinces such a number of members as will bear the same proportion to the number of its population (ascertained by the census) as the number 65 bears to the population of Quebec. However, by an amendment to the British North America Act passed by Imperial Parliament in 1915, it was enacted that "notwithstanding anything in the said Act, a province shall always be entitled to a number of members in the House of Commons not less than the number of senators representing such province." As a consequence of this amendment the representation of Prince Edward Island has remained at 4 members.

As a result of the census of 1921, a Bill was passed at the close of the 1924 session providing for a representation in the fifteenth Parliament of 245 members. Following the 1931 Census the Representation Act, 1933, redistributed membership as follows:

Ontario, 82, Quebec 65, N.S. 12, N.B. 10, Manitoba, 17, B.C. 16, P.E.I. 4, Sask. 21, Alberta 17, Yukon 1, and subsequent General Elections took place on this basis.

A comparative tabulation of Provincial representation from 1867 appeared in the Canadian Almanac for 1938.

THE SENATE

Senators are appointed for life; must be British subjects and 30 years of age; must own lands worth net $4,000 in the province which they represent, and must be worth $4,000 above all debts. They must be residents of the province for which elected or of the electoral division in the Province of Quebec.

The Speaker is appointed by the Governor-General.

Since 1915 the numerical representation of the Senate by provinces is as follows: Prince Edward Island 4, Nova Scotia 10, New Brunswick 10, Quebec 24, Ontario 24, Manitoba, 6, Saskatchewan 6, Alberta 6, British Columbia, 6. Total 96.

COURTS AND JUDGES—ONTARIO

The Supreme Court consists of two Divisions, viz. The Court of Appeal and The High Court of Justice.

The Court of Appeal hears appeals from decisions of the High Court and of the lower courts.

The High Court of Justice hears various cases, criminal and civil, and has a wider jurisdiction than the lower courts. A trial judge sits several times each year in the various counties and judicial districts.

The next lower Courts are the County and District Courts and the Division Courts.

One of the County Court Judges in every County is also the Surrogate Judge. The Surrogate Courts deals with wills, and estates of deceased persons.

Appeals may be taken from the Provincial Courts to the Supreme Court of Canada in certain cases.

The Exchequer Court of Canada tries cases with which the Crown is concerned, admiralty matters, patents, copyrights, trade marks, Dominion Revenue, railways under the authority of the Parliament of Canada, and railways not wholly within one province, and disputes between provinces.

There is an Ontario branch of the Exchequer Court, known as the Ontario Admiralty District.
